More Watergate data indicated

Dean may tar Nixon aides

JOHN W. DEAN III

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House Counsel John W. Dean III, who has declared he will not be made a scapegoat for the Watergate affair, appears ready to implicate other presidential aides, says a source close to him.

In another development, The Washington Post quotes sources today as saying President Nixon was told by members of his own staff last year that former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and Dean probably were involved in both the wiretapping of Democratic party headquarters and a subsequent coverup.

Nixon, said the Post's sources, responded, "Give me some evidence."

Mitchell, former campaign director for Nixon, testified last week before a grand jury investigating Watergate. He told newsmen afterwards that he had heard discussion of wiretapping plans in the 1972 campaign but disapproved them.

Dean reportedly has been named by former Nixon campaign aide Jeb Stuart Magruder as among those present at a meeting where bugging of the Democratic headquarters was planned.

Dean, presidential counsel, conducted the initial investigation into the case, which was followed by Nixon's statement that no White House aides were involved. Nixon said April 7, however, that he had learned of major new developments pointing to the truth in the case.

"In a perhaps misguided concept in protecting the people around the President, he (Dean) has been caught up in questionable activities," a source close to Dean said Sunday.

The source said Dean's April 19 comment that he would not be made a scapegoat was "a clear indication that he is now going to help the President clear the White House staff of those that have besmirched the office of the presidency to the end that President Nixon will have better and purer advisers in the future."

There were several other developments over the weekend.

—Charles W. Colson, a former White House consultant, reiterated Sunday that he had no involvement in Watergate. He characterized as "just plain wrong" a story in the Los Angeles Times saying that Colson was prepared to document an administration coverup of Watergate. The Times stood by its story.

—Ridder Publications' Washington bureau quoted sources as saying Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst may resign after Watergate investigations are over because he has fallen out of favor with Nixon over his handling of the matter. He already has withdrawn from the case.

—Sen. Edward Brooke, RMass., said Sunday it is difficult to understand how persons working with the President would not have told Nixon about the Watergate bugging before it was done. "It is inconceivable to me that they would not have told the President about this matter," said Brooke on NBC's "Meet the Press."

FACE IS FAMILIAR, BUT — Postman George Bayliss and a canine observer by the name of "Mr. Chips" give each other a mutually respectful wide berth. Mr. Chips seemed to be having trouble recognizing Postman Bayliss in his new Postal Service regulation walking shorts. The encounter ended with each going his own way but making regular checks over the shoulder to check the other's progress. Scene is Dallas, Tex.

Little girl brutally slain

HILLSDALE, N.J. (AP) — The strangulation-beating death of a 7-year-old Brownie scout whose nude body was found in a park has shaken this residential community. A young teacher to whom she was to deliver two boxes of Girl Scout cookies has been charged with her death.

The body of Joan D'Allesandro was found by police Sunday, three days after she was reported missing. James McGowan, 26, who lived with his widowed mother about 100 yards down the street from the D'Allesandro home, was arrested and charged with the killing.

Rockland County Medical Examiner Fred Zugibe said there was evidence of sexual abuse. He said the girl apparently was slain elsewhere before her body was dumped in a wooded area of Harriman State Park at Stony Point, N.Y., some 15 miles north of here.

"We've been hysterical since the child was reported missing," said Mrs. Mary Lou Dumanovski, a neighbor of the slain girl and the teacher. "Every mother in the neighborhood now is yelling for her child every two minutes.

"This has always been a children's town, but forget it!" she exclaimed. "Now, none of my kids will leave the backyard without an adult in attendance."

"How could you believe that anything like this could happen here?" said Mrs. Ann Hoppe, another neighbor.

Less than two hours after the discovery of the girl's body, police arrested McGowan. He was arraigned and ordered jailed in lieu of $50,000 bail.

Shooting rampage leaves six dead

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The gunman pointed to his latest victim and asked a horrified service station attendant who witnessed the killing: Do you know if anyone wants some of that?"

An otherwise peaceful Easter Sunday in a predominantly black neighborhood was shattered by a man wielding a .20-gauge shotgun. The 90-minute shooting rampage left six perfons dead and ten wounded at eight locations, authorities said.

"He walked in and asked for Butch," recalled James Morrow, 35, a coworker of Raleigh "Butch" Henderson, a service station attendant who was gunned down. "Butch turned around and he just started shooting."

A preliminary investigation indicated the shooting may have been "a planned sequence — something he thought out, or at any rate did in a kind of order of priorities," said Sheriff's Lt. Charles Elliott.

"At any rate, we believe he knew all or most of the people he killed."

Officers shot and wounded William Ray Bonner, 25, an unemployed service station attendant, during a shootout that followed a chase by sheriff's deputies. Bonner was booked for investigation of murder, officers said. He was reported in satisfactory condition at a local hospital with gunshot wounds in the leg.

Persons killed in the afternoon shooting spree included Bonner's grandmother, girlfriend and a 12-year-old girl, sheriff's deputies said.

Most of the wounded were reported in critical condition.

At least one and possibly two of the wounded were hit by crossfire when officers surrounded the gunman at an intersection and exchanged some 40 shots before wounding him and taking him into custody, authorities said.

The cause of the shootings was under investigation.

The shooting rampage started at Bonner's home, where a female visitor was fatally shot and two teen-agers were wounded. It then spread through the surrounding neighborhood. The gunman made quick visits to two gas stations, two liquor stores and two other homes—all within a one-square mile area — leaving dead and wounded as he went, deputies said.

High Court eyes integration busing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today hears arguments for the first time on whether federal judges may order busing across school-district boundaries in pursuit of desegregation.

The immediate issue is a district-court order for consolidation of the mostly black schools of Richmond, Va., with the predominantly white school districts in neighboring Henrico and Chesterfield counties.

That order was issued in January 1972 by U.S. District Court Judge Robert H. Merhige Jr. and would have required busing of about 78,000 pupils across city and county lines.

In a 5-1 decision last June, the 4th Circuit Court of Appeals reversed that order. The appellate court took issue with Merhige's position that state and local officials had maintained a segregated school system in Richmond, and held that judges lack authority to cross school-district lines in desegregation orders.

The Richmond School Board had argued that pupils were moved across boundary lines to perpetuate segregation and that those lines should be crossed for desegregation.

Arguing with the school board to have the appellate ruling nullified and Merhige's order restored is the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund. The Virginia State Board of Education and the Nixon administration support the circuitcourt ruling.

Similar lawsuits affecting metropolitan-area schools are pending in Detroit and Grand Rapids, Mich.; Dayton, Ohio; Durham, N.C.; Wilmington, Del.; Hartford, Conn.; Buffalo; Atlanta; Boston; Indianapolis, and Louisville.

The Supreme Court was told in briefs that during the 1970-71 school year, about 9,000 lack pupils in Richmond were attending 13 schools ghat were at least 90 per cent black, while there were four allpwhite schools. Chesterfield and Henrico schools were completely segregated until the mid-1960s.

Real estate probe brings suspension

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Commerce Director Dennis Shaul today suspended state employe J. David Maffeo pending further investigation of real estate license exams he gave his wife, father, and a former governors office employe.

Shaul, at a news conference, said the maximum suspension without pay is five days. "We hoped to have this cleared up within a couple of days," Shaul said.

Shaul said he planned to name a professional group composed of realtors, attorneys, and businessmen to study the process of licensing over the past five years.

He said he would ask the group to jerk from the files any license exams that appeared questionable. He said there would continue to be personnel changes within the Ohio Real Estate Commission until the problems were corrected.

Shaul said Maffeo admitted giving the state license test to his wife, Betty, and father, Joseph.

He said he gave the test to Samuel T. Britton of Cincinnati, former minority affairs coordinator for the Governor, at the request of Vernon B. McMillen, former commission secretary, fired recently by Shaul.

McMillen was dismissed as Shaul delved into controversy surrounding how former Gov. James A. Rhodes and several of his aides obtained real estate brokers or real estate salesmen licenses without going through normal testing procedures.

Shaul said Maffeo, assistant secretary of the commission, bore the responsibility for testing his wife and father. The father is the Democratic co-chairman in Harrison county.

"I don't have any proof or suspicions these tests have anything wrong with them," Shaul said.

Rains drown farms; fertilizers scarce

Fayette County farmers are experiencing a shortage of fertilizer to further complicate the planting season, already hampered extensively by continued rainfall.

Officials of both the Landmark and Agrico fertilizer plants here concur that the demand for phosphorus is great and the chemical is increasingly difficult to obtain. Spokesmen from both firms said nitrogen is more plentiful locally.

The rains also continue to plague county farmers. Coyt A. Stookey, official weather observer, said 0.93 inch fell during the 48-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today.

An emergency session of Ohio's Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation is to be held today over the fertilizer shortage and impending wheat transportation crisis, according to Dan Tucker of the Ohio Crop Reporting Service.

The fertilizer shortage, transportation problems and soggy fields continue to hamper Ohio farmers' efforts to plant major corn and soybean crops and prepare for the summer what harvest.

Tucker, statistician with the reporting service, said that plowing, which is normally over half completed by this time, remains only 25 per cent finished.

He said the problem results from excessive rainfall last autumn and winter, as well as this year's rain.

The rain late last year also resulted in millions of dollars of crop losses as farmers were unable to enter waterlogged fields to harvest fall crops.

Soil conditions have also slowed or halted the planting of oats, potatoes, sugar beets, and tobacco, Tucker noted.

He said farmers have until about mid-May to plant corn, and slightly longer for soybeans.

In addition to that problem, farmers have been experiencing difficulty in getting phosphorus and nitrogen fertilizer compounds. Suppliers say the shortage is due to foreign sales of the chemicals and the scarcity of railroad cars.

Tucker said that his committee is concerned that a continued scarcity of railroad hopper cars will delay movement of wheat, due to be harvested about in early July.

He said his understanding is that huge grain sales to Russia and China have tied up the cars at ports not along the normal shipping routes.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has been asked to order cars hauling export grains to Gulf ports to be routed by Florida phosphate deposits on return trips to northern sections, according to the statistician.

New series of storms hit flooded Mississippi Valley

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The rain-soaked lower Mississippi Valley took the brunt of a new series of thunderstorms and heavy rains early today following a weekend of tornadoes, rain and flooding throughout the nation's midsection.

In contrast, the Easter weekend on both coasts was pleasant. More than 500,000 persons swarmed to the beaches in Los Angeles County as temperatures touched 85, and 80 degree readings were common in the East.

Thunderstorms spread from eastern Oklahoma to the Ohio Valley with 1.8 inches of rain accumulated during the night at Little Rock, Ark., and 2.1 inches at Springfield, Mo.

The Mississippi River at Burlington, Iowa, St. Louis, Mo., and Cairo, Ill., was expected to crest at possible record levels during the coming week.

Three tornadoes were reported Sunday night near Little Rock, Ark. A flash flood watch was issued for much of Arkansas. Hundreds of campers were chased from a folk festival at Ozark Mountain Forest by a flood early Sunday.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers said Morgan City, La., will have to wait four to six weeks for the waters of the Atchafalaya River to subside.

Flooding in northern Illinois along the Fox and Rock Rivers caused hundreds of persons to flee their homes Saturday.

Assistant Highway Patrol chief retires

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Lt. Col. Clifford E. Reich, assistant superintendent of the Ohio Patrol, will retire May 1 to become director of research and development for the Ohio Automobile Club.

Reich joined the patrol in 1942 and has served as assistant superintendent since 1965.

Steven Hill winner of Armco scholarship

Steven L. Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andy L. Hill, 1318 Nelson Place, has been named a recipient of an Armco Steel Corp. scholarship, E. C. Vollette, manager of the company's Washington C. H. plant, announced today.

Hill was among 22 young people selected by the Educational Testing Service from more than 295 applicants for the company's scholarships.

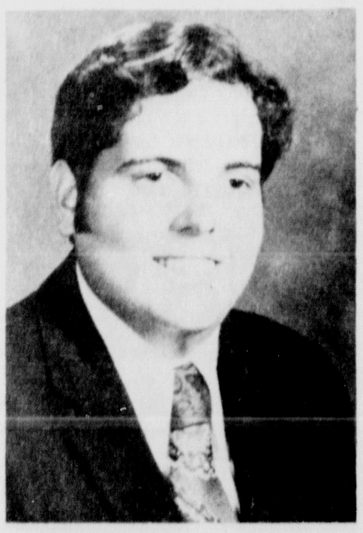

A senior at Washington Senior High School, he is a member of the Letterman's Club, National Honor Society member, and active in Student Council.

Hill's father is a crane operator at the plant here.

All sons and daughters of Armco employes throughout the country and overseas are eligible for the company scholarships. Their value will range up to $1,250 annually, based on financial need, Vollette said. Individual amounts are not made public.

President of the youth group at the South Side Church of Christ where he is a member of the choir and Bible Bowl team, young Hill attended Buckeye Boys' State last year and was an American Legion Americanism Contest county and district winner as a junior.

As a ninth grader, he was a patriotic essay winner and received the John F. Kennedy scholarship award for maintaining a scholastic average of 4.0. While in the 11th grade he won honorable mention in the Ohio Scholarship Contest.

STEVEN L. HILL

As a National Society member in both Junior and Senior high schools, he has been vice president of the senior chapter for two years. His other activities include the Hi-Y Club, Student Council, head student trainer for football and membership in the student chapter of American Field Service.

He attended the Ohio YMCA Youth and Government program as a state representative last year and will attend again this spring.

Naval base closing shocks city

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — A banker expresses optimism for the future. But grocers, gas station owners, shopkeepers and others who relied on Navy business are gloomily awaiting the worst.

Newport, the fabled playground of millionaires and socialites, has been rocked by a Pentagon order that will wipe out nearly 14,000 military and civilian jobs at the Newport Naval Base.

Though other military installations in the area will remain in use, the transfer south of men and ships from the Newport base will mean the loss of an annual payroll of $116 million. That is half the total wages of Newport and the two other communities on the 44-square-mile island, Middletown and Portsmouth.

The cutback is scheduled to be completed by July 30, 1974. Navy schools and laboratories at Newport will not shut down, leaving several thousand men at the base.

As news about the cutback sinks in, anger and anxiety replace the initial wave of disbelief.

"I'm so mad," says Mrs. Morton Socks, whose husband says he will have to close one of his two men's shops that cater to the military. "There is no cut in defense spending, they're just shifting everything elsewhere."

Harold and Peter Petropoulof, owners of a camera store, say they expected cutbacks as the war wound down "but they hit us with a home run rather than a double. This is the Pearl Harbor of Newport."

The sales manager of a large real estate firm says that, since the cutback announcement a week ago today, "it's just a story of one cancellation after another. The market has gone absolutely stone deaf. There's no phone calls for sales."

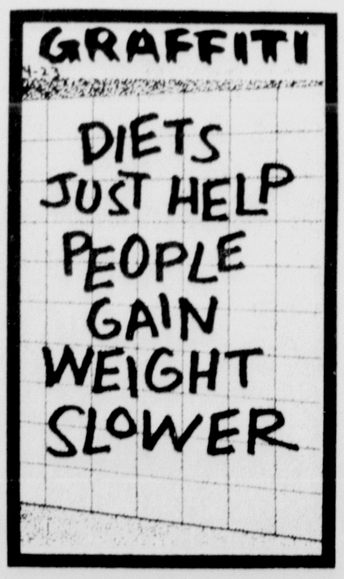

In nearby Middletown — where a string of gas stations, car washes, hamburger joints and two shopping centers have grown up outside the Navy's gates — a clerk for a dry cleaner says, "We're going to suffer. We probably won't be here next year."

The future looks equally bleak to furniture store owners and used-car dealers, who do up to 80 per cent of their business with the Navy.

A developer already has cancelled plans to build a new $10 million shopping center near one of the base's gates.

William A. Perry, president of the Newport National Bank, says marginal businesses probably will go under and Newport will become a bedroom community to industrial areas.

"It's going to depress it for a while, but it's going to bounce back," he says emphatically. "If you have a labor force available, industry ill come in.

El Paso blast fatal to 7

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — "I heard a girl scream, 'Help me!' I went running to this first apartment. We started digging those people out of this wreckage, all this mess."

Edna Williams was describing the scene immediately after a natural gas explosion early Easter Sunday killed seven persons and leveled much of an apartment complex about half a mile east of the downtown section.

She said she was in her home across the street reading the Bible when the blast occurred about 6:30 a.m.

Eight persons were hospitalized today after the low, rumbling blast turned seven of the brick veneer apartments in the L-shaped complex into a pile of concrete and brick debris five feet deep.

The firemen blamed the explosion on leaking natural gas, saying the leak occurred where street repairs had been made. They said gas was spewing through the street as far as 100 feet from the apartments.

Distemper too much for 'Dumpy'

SALEM, Ohio (AP)—Dumpy the dog is dead.

The 3-year-old beagle mix mongrel which survived being gassed and shot was put to sleep Saturday by a Salem veterinarian.

Joyce Guiler, one of two Salem women who rescued the dog in March after it had been abandoned for dead at a landfill near here, had Dumpy put to sleep after the veterinarian told her further amputation would be necessary.

Parts of the dog's hind legs had been amputated because of the effects of a bout with distemper when he was a pup.

Dumpy will be buried at Woodside Pet Memorial Park cemetery in Navarre at 4 p.m. next Saturday. Graveside visiting hours will be observed from 2 to 4 p.m.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

A slow-moving cold front moved south across Ohio Sunday, bringing light showers and a few thundershowers.

The front was located across the Ohio Valley this morning and was forecast to continue moving very slowly southward or remain almost stationary today. Showers were forecast to continue, especially in southern counties, in connection with the front.

Afternoon highs were expected to range from the 50s to 70s under cloudy skies. Temperatures tonight will drop to the 40s under cloudy to partly cloudy skies.

Cloudy skies will cover the entire state Tuesday, and afternoon highs will be in the 50s and 60s, about normal for this time of year.

Showers and a few thundershowers were reported across Ohio Sunday night and this morning, although rainfall amounts were light.

Temperatures remained mild under cloudy skies, with readings at dawn in the 50s and 60s.

Chance of showers Wednesday and Friday. Highs in 60s, lows in the 40s.

Searchers unable to locate boater

A scaled-down search is still being conducted at Deer Creek Reservoir for the body of Darrell Wheeler, 20, of Stoutsville.

Pickaway County Sheriff's deputies said the search was continued over the weekend despite the opening of the lake to the public.

Wheeler drowned April 8 when his boat capsized. Three other persons in the boat were rescued. Search operations conducted daily since the drowning have failed to locate the body.

The making of sausages dates back to at least 1500 B.C.

Stock list eases off

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices settled lower today after two straight sessions of modest advances.

Analysts said positive and negative influences on the market appeared to be in close balance. On the favorable side was a long list of bright first-quarter corporate earnings reports; on the unfavorable side, signs of continuing strong inflation.

The government reported Friday that consumer prices surged at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 9.6 per cent in March, equalling February's pace.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was off close to a point, but only a very thin edge over those advancing on the New York Stock Exchange.

Big Board prices included Gulf Oil, unchanged at 25⅝; Raymond International up ⅛ AT &¼; Levitz Furniture, ahead ⅜ at 11¾; Westinghouse Electric, off ⅛ at 34⅞, and Lykes Youngstown, unchanged at 11.

Newsman loses hearing appeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Baltimore reporter, faced with jail for refusing to answer a grand jury's questions about a news source, today lost his bid for a hearing before the Supreme Court.

David M. Lightman appealed his potentially indefinite contempt sentence to the high court with the contention that the grand jury probe was motivated by a desire to harass his newspaper, the Baltimore Evening Sun, for publishing articles implicitly critical of law enforcement in Ocean City, Md.

Cherry Hill PTA re-elects officers

Officers were re-elected and awards were presented to Science Fair winners at the Cherry Hill Parent-Teacher Association meeting last week.

The PTA also voted to pay the expenses of a trip to King's Island amusement park near Cincinnati for members of the school safety patrol and approved a contribution of $10 to the special education class at the Rose Avenue School which is attended by several Cherry Hill pupils.

John Rich will continue as president; Roger Mesecher as vice president; Mrs. James Eakins as secretary, and Mrs. James Kiger as treasurer.

Science Fair awards were presented by Mrs. Leonard Watts, the principal, too:

Fourth grade — 1st Harvey Morgan; 2nd Shelly Copeland; 3rd Amy Boyer; 4th Gale Eakins;

Fifth grade — 1st J. R. Wilson, 2nd Kari Ream, 3rd Wendell Graham, Scott Baird and Glenna Scott and 4th Barry Cupp, Doug Morrison and Andy Huysman;

Sixth grade — 1st Jeff Patton, 2nd Scott Baker, 3rd Mike Harlan and Betty Caudill and 4th Kelly Graham and Greg Earp.

The attendance banner went to Mrs. Charles Shaper's fifth grade with 16 parents present. The annual spring roundup was scheduled for May 5 and a family-style potluck supper has been set for May 22.

Ohio River among federal targets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Up to 10 heavily-polluted river basins may be in line for federal demonstration projects aimed at controlling wastes from farms, construction sites and city streets to help meet a congressional goal of river fit to swim in by 1983.

A spokesman for the Environmental Protection Agency said possible locations for the projects include the Potomac, Delaware, Ohio, Missouri and Colorado rivers, and parts of lower Florida. But details of the projects have not been worked out.

EPA said the results of these projects would be applied eventually to other river basins throughout the nation.

To meet the goal of rivers fit to swim in, pollution must be controlled from both "point sources," such as factories and sewage plants, and "nonpoint sources" which have no concentrated discharge outlets, such as farms, construction sites and city streets.

To control the "point sources" of pollution, EPA has pledged to issue discharge restrictions by the end of 1974 to more than 56,000 waste dischargers.

But the agency is frankly stymied, so far, by the nonpoint sources.

Rain water running into river and lakes carries pesticides and fertilizers from farmland, silt from bulldozed construction sites, and all sorts of impurities from city streets.

EPA says it is not sure what must be done to prevent this pollution and is conducting the demonstration projects in an attempt to find a solutinn.

Meanwhile, said EPA, each state must, over the next two years, "develop a profile of its particular nonpoint source problems, and prepare an assessment of what it feels to be the most effective ... available prevention and control..." In the same period, the agency said, EPA will be primarily responsible for research on the generation and effects by type of nonpoint source pollutants, and for development of additional prevention and control techniques.

EPA said these efforts should lead to development within three years of statenand local plans to control nonpoint sources of pollution.

Nab gunman after chase of 400 miles

MERCED, Calif. (AP) — A gunman has been captured by police at the end of a 400-mile spree of six abductions, two rapes and two fatal shootings, authorities say.

The events began with the kidnap-rape of a 19-year-old woman in South Lake Tahoe on Friday and ended Sunday when police shot and wounded John P. Bunyard, 27, of San Francisco on the outskirts of Merced, authorities said.

Bunyard was reported in fair condition Sunday with gunshot wounds in his arms and abdomen.

During the search for the man, six cars were commandeered, two policemen disarmed and several fired at.

The Merced County sheriff's office said Bunyard was booked for investigation of murder in the shooting of two elderly women whose bodies were found in motel rooms in Mariposa, 30 miles northeast of here.

Sheriff Norm Garrett of neighboring Mariposa County said: "He will be charged with murder, kidnaping, armed robbery and possibly with other felony charges."

In San Francisco, police said Bunyard was positively "linked" with a series of attacks on women in the Nob Hill area in recent months, including the multiple stabbing of a Japanese student.

New gas eruptions plague Michigan town

WILLIAMSBURG, Mich. (AP) — Natural gas eruptions which have plagued this tiny northwestern Michigan community since last week continued to spread today, forcing 10 more families to evacuate their homes.

The new eruptions of the potentially explosive gas were discovered near the town of Acme, about four miles southwest of the original field of geysers. Authorities said gas concentrations in the area were high.

Sandbagging operations were set to begin later today at Acme Creek, just below the site of the most recent eruptions.

Silt from the creek has been flowing into Grand Traverse Bay, muddying the water, and officials say they fear the gas, which has been bubbling up from the ground since Wednesday, may spread 10 miles underground to endanger Traverse City, a town of 18,000. The silt could travel into the bay, harming aquatic life.

Sheriff Richard Weiler said workmen would put snow fences across Acme Creek and devise a filter of hay on the fence to trap silt particles.

Me said artificial settling basins would be created below the eruptions to trap the silt pouring out of the blowholes before it could get to Grand Traverse Bay.

Officials said Sunday more gas and less water is coming from the blowholes. That may be a sign gas is venting fast enough to prevent it from spreading, they said.

Authorities said they were hampered in their efforts Sunday by sightseers. The crowds of curious people caused many problems, officials said, stopping on Michigan 72 and trudging across fields to see the eruptions.

Geologists have been unable to say how fast the gas is traveling underground. But geologist Stanley Dyer said the slope of the underlying rock in the area points the escaping gas toward the bay.

Bill Mullendore, a state biologist, said there has been "no damage to wildlife and no damage to underwater life either."

Phones and electrical service were shut off Sunday from the area in which gas concentration is the heaviest as a precaution against explosions. Cars also were banned.

Gov. William G. Milliken, from his home 10 miles away in Traverse City, announced Sunday that he was making extra fire-fighting equipment available from state supplies.

Meanwhile, several county officials have announced their intention to file suit against Amoco Production Co., the drilling subsidiary of Standard Oil of Indiana, whose well four miles south of Williamsburg has been blamed for the eruptions. Amoco has denied that its well is the culprit.

"All geological strata has been tested at the company's well," said R.B. Lafever, Amoco district superintendent, "and no gas was evident."

Canada's first settlers relied on wildlife — deer, fish, fowl, buffalo and rabbits — and their meat needs.

Wild scheme to free Hess bared by German activist

BERLIN (AP) — Approaching his 79th birthday, Rudolph Hess, Hitler' onetime confidant and deputy, was back in the headlines today with a report of a hijack plot to free him from Berlin's Spandau Prison.

A 29-year-old German activist told over the weekend of a scheme to hijack a British airliner to Moscow in an attempt to force the Soviets to agree to the Nazi leader's release, authorities said.

West German officials said Carl Holzapfel, who has been active in protests against the Berlin Wall, told them he and nine other persons were planning to take over a British European Airways jet during a flight from Stuttgart to Berlin.

In a letter to the newspaper Bild am Sontag, Holzapfel said he changed his mind about the scheme when he learned his accomplices planned to use dynamite as a threat and innocent persons might get hurt.

Hess, Hitler's onetime deputy, will be 79 on Thursday and has been imprisoned for 32 years — from 1941 to 1946 in Britain and in Spandau since his conviction at Nuernberg. He is known to be in poor health, with a heart murmur, a once ruptured ulcer, prostate problems and failing faculties.

His once thick black hair is gray and sparse, he is stooped, and his teeth are false, but the eyebrows above his sunken eyes are still heavy and dark.

Except for a four-month period at the nearby British Military Hospital for treatment of his ulcer, Hess has been in virtual solitary confinement since 1966 when the last of the other six top Nazis jailed with him completed their 20-year terms.

Hess was found guilty at Nuernberg of plotting and carrying out aggressive war and sentenced to life in prison but was not convicted of any war crimes.

The Russians contended that he should have been hanged and have rejected the pleas of the British, endorsed by the Americans and the French, to set the old man free on humanitarian grounds.

Polar bears in Canada are found mainly in the Hudson Bay and James Bay areas.

London points the way

The smoky, foggy old city of London has come, surprisingly, to stand for what can be done about pollution. Perhaps this is because conditions in London were so bad that improvement is bound to be dramatic. Whatever the reason, the great city on the Thames does exemplify progress in cleaning up the environment.

This has been freshly pointed out by Environment Minister Geoffrey Ripon. As he notes, pollution control efforts were undertaken some years ago and are beginning to pay off handsomely.

London used to be known for its smoggy winter atmosphere, into which sunlight penetrated only sparingly if at all. Now, says Ripon, the city is getting 50 per cent more winter sunshine than it got 20 years ago.

The foul state of London's storied Thames river has not escaped attention, either. In some stretches of the Thames there were hardly any fish 15 years ago. Today, 50 species are found in such parts of the river.

These gains have not been achieved by happenstance. They are clearly the result of strong anti-pollution laws which provide tough penalties for violations. Under the goad of these laws, industry has spent the equivalent of a billion dollars on air pollution control alone over the past decade. That is why London receives half again as much welcome winter sunlight as it used to.

And that, in turn, is why the government plans even more stringent anti-pollution laws and tougher penalties. There is popular support for that, because it has become evident that insistence on pollution control works.

THESE DAYS . . . by John Chamberlain

We still need farm surpluses

Farmers, says Lane Palmer, the editor of Farm Journal, are more worried about "next year's" low food prices than they are about the meat-eating public's reaction to the prices now being charged in the butcher shops.

Expounding his fears at a hearing of the Senate Banking Subcommittee on Production and Stabilization, Mr. Palmer said that farmers could not look with equanimity on "the government's over-reaction to consumer demands."

He reminded the senators that over and over again the U.S. farmer, and the consumer, too, had experienced far greater tragedy from a stimulated overproduction than from "any temporary shortage such as we are now experiencing."

The Department of Agriculture officials have, in Mr. Palmer's opinion, already released too many acres for crop production this year. The embattled editor told the senators that farmers shuddered when consumer spokesmen argued that the days of U.S. farm surpluses are over, or that crop failures in India, Russia and China were bound to recur, or that the Soviets would consummate future deals for grain on the 1972 scale, or that corn blights like 1971's could be counted on to raise the price of hogs. Going back to the days of the Eisenhower Administration, Mr. Palmer noted that when corn plantings were boosted by almost ten million acres in 1959, the result was $1-a-bushel corn in 1960.

MR. PALMER obviously knows his history. The big question, however, iswhether the farmers for whom he speaks have taken the measure of changes in the U.S. economy that are tending to make agricultural surpluses just about the only big exportable item that we have. We have lost the overseas electronics markets to Japanese companies such as Sony; we no longer make typewriters to compete with Olivetti; our Hollywood movies are too costly for foreign consumption; our cars can't compete against the Volkswagen or the Toyota; our textiles can't contest even the local markets against imported dresses and shirts; and so it goes.

Boeing is still able to sell 707 planes to the Red Chinese and 747s to the German Lufthansa and Onassis's Olympic Airways. But, significantly, Boeing is now making provision to build short take-off planes in Italy and is contemplating a manufacturing operation inside Japan.

We still sell big computers, but a Japanese minicomputer is capturing the domestic U.S. market, which portends something ominous for IBM's bigger stuff somewhere down the line. Meanwhile, the Persian Gulf oil sheikdoms are just about to corner the world's oil markets, including those of the Eastern U.S.

If it weren't for our agricultural exports, including tree-farmed logs, our balance of payments prospects would be truly appalling. Fortunately the U.S. has unused land that can be used to produce an annual exportable food surplus over our domestic needs.

It could be that abundant rainfall in India, and good growing weather in Russia and China, might cause overproduction in the U.S. in any given year. But Mr. Palmer and the farmers for whom he speaks lack the courage of the free-enterprise philosophy which they still nominally accept.

The point is that countries which depend on collectivized agriculture are bound to experience shortages in two out of three growing seasons even when nature smiles. Regimented peasants just don't produce, and even when sun and rain bring crops to fruition without transcendent human effort the grain is left to rot in the fields because of bungled transport and storage arrangements.

THE LATEST REPORTS from the professional China watchers in Hongkong is that food production on the Red Chinese mainland is going to drop by another 4 per cent this year. Chou En-lai has already admitted to reporters that last year's 4 per cent drop was bad enough. Despite the order that went out from Peking to increase production for 1973, the Chinese peasants have been unable to cope with droughts all over north, northeast, and northwest China.

There was practically no rain or snow in Hopei Province this past winter. In Central and South China icy rains have killed rice and wheat seedlings.

This sort of thing means that the American farmer can't plant too much in 1973. Mr. Palmer and his farm clientele can stop worrying for the immediate future. Even though West Europe and Japan don't need our industrial output, the Communist part of the world will continue to beg us for our surplus food.

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . by John P. Roche

Is TV News for real?

In "News from Nowhere" (Random House), Edward Jay Epstein poses the question "Is television network news truly a "mirror of reality'?"

Epstein did an interesting but flawed study of the Warren Commission's report on the assassination of President Kennedy, and subsequently, for The New Yorker, a superb analysis of the myth of the police campaign to murder the Black Panthers. He has now turned his attention to the charges that television network news has consistently shown a liberal bias, and to the reply that the news programs simply mirror reality.

His book is going to disappoint partisans of both viewpoints. After a painstaking investigation of the inner operations of the network news shows, Epstein emerges with two major conclusions. First, that network news is not a mirror of reality, that much of it is semi-fiction — a new dramatic art-form. A documentary on hunger in America, for example, comes on with a child dying on the screen. The viewer; automatic assumption is that the child died of hunger, though in fact the baby in the film did not. This is justified by the producers on the ground that other babies undoubtedly have died of hunger, but at the moment of filming, one was not available.

SIMILARLY a five-hour protest at Columbus University, which in cold terms was a complete fizzle, could be converted into three or four minutes of howling action by the boys in the cutting room. Obviously Walter Cronkite or any of the other network anchormen can not go on the air with three or four minutes of nothing happening at Columbia — even though that would have mirrored reality.

In a different context, news is where the cameras are. Here the contrast in the coverage of the Democratic and Republican 1968 nominating conventions is a case inpoint: although in Chicago no one was killed, the Frenzy took place on camera. In Miami Beach, on the other hand, where the riots and deaths, no TV trucks were on hand to convert it into "news."

Epstein's second conclusion will disappoint Vice President Agnew, Clay Whitehead and other critics of TV's alleged "liberal bias." He makes a persuasive case that the only bias the networks have is one in favor of making money, and backs it up with a fascinating exploration of the logistics of network news production.

"News" turns out basically to be what happens in five cities that are tied into the big cable. It costs a fortune to go out into the hinterland; California and the West Coast create time problems, so the nets end up with an essentially East Coast orientation. (Nothing short of another San Francisco earthquake that occurs on the West Coast after noon E.S.T. is going to make it into the 6 o'clock shows.)

BECAUSE of cost problems, Epstein writes, it is "economically more efficient to consign news of small town America and remote cities to such timeless features as the CBS series 'On the Road with Charles Kuralt' . . . the fundamental economic structure compels producers to select a large share of their film stories from a few locations." Later he observes pessimistically that as long as these "requisites remain essentially the same, network news can be expected to define American society by the problems of a few urban areas rather than the entire nation, by action rather than ideas, by dramatic protests rather than substantive contradictions . . . by a typical rather than typical views."

This conclusion will leave many critics dissatisifed, and I confess that I wish Epstein had confronted in a serious way Edith Efron's charge of bias in coverage of the 1968 campaign. Epstein virtually eliminates the human, subjective factor, but I recall some trick camera shots of Hubert Humphrey looking like the village idiot and — without getting manic — I am not convinced it was accidental.

But with the caveat, I strongly recommend Epstein's book if only for documenting the point that network news is primarily a business, not a journalistic, enterprise.

"LET'S TAKE ANOTHER LOOK AT THAT RULE BOOK."

Hal Boyle . . . Hal delves into his mailbag

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Has your income doubled in the last 10 years? Well, your federal taxes have.

According to the Tax Foundation, federal taxes for the 1974 fiscal year, which starts July 1, will average $1,179 for every American, more than double the $582 they were a decade ago.

It was hard to tell what time it was in 1880. Although Daylight Saving Time had not then been heralded, there were 50 different standard times in use in the United States.

Do you have any idea where the following common everyday phrases came from? "Thanks for nothing...To give the devil his due...A peck of trouble...Every dog has his day...A finger in every pie...Let the worst come to the worst...A wild goose chase..."

Well, every one of them came from a single book, "Don Quixote," written more than 350 years ago by Miguel de Cervantes.

Christopher Latham Sholes, who in 1873 invented the first successful typewriter, also composed the sentence that has been connected with it ever since: "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party." Sholes, who sold his valuable patent for only $12,000, later commented wryly: "All my life I have been trying to escape being a millionaire, and at last I think I have succeeded."

Quotable notables: "I hate mankind for I think myself one of the best of them, and I know how bad I am." — Samuel Johnson.

Nature notes: Many people think snakes are slimy; actually their skins are clean and quite dry. Wasps have a better sense of smell than you do and use it to hunt food. Although the wild turkey usually prefers to escape its enemies by running through cover, it can fly quite well. If your child had an appetite like a mole, he could eat his bodyweight in food once a day.

Know your language: Do you know why that little platform on the mast of a ship is called the crow's nest? Because the ancient Vikings actually kept crows in a container on such a platform. When the ship became lost, they would release a bird and follow it toward land. American whaling ships in the last century perched a member of the crew in a barrel fixed to the headmast to act as a lookout.

Worth remembering: "Be not disturbed at being misunderstood; be disturbed at not understanding."

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Let him eat cake and you'll get the crumbs

DEAR ABBY: Like so many others, I can't believe I'm actually writing a Dear Abby letter. My husband is having an affair with an 18-year-old girl. (He's 37.)

I found out about it three months ago. He promised to stop, but now he says she's pregnant and he feels an obligation to her. (What about his obligation to ME? We have four children, 5 to 14 years old.)

He spends every weekend with her and comes home to me during the week. He says if I don't like it, he'll stay with her during the week, too. Abby, I love him and don't want to lose him, yet I can't live like this.

He says he doesn't want a divorce or a separation. He just wants to go on like he is. How can I save our marriage?

CONCEAL MY IDENTITY

DEAR CONCEAL: You can't save your marriage without your husband's cooperation. He should see a lawyer about his legal obligation to the girl, then make a choice between you and her. If you let him continue to have his cake and eat it, too, you will wind up with crumbs.

DEAR ABBY: Concerning the brides who are always being criticized because they are late getting out their thank-you notes for their wedding gifts: My niece was married in September, and I did not receive a thank-you note for my wedding gift until mid-January. The reason: She had colored pictures made of herself and the groom and they wanted to enclose a picture with each thank-you. She didn't get her proofs from the photographers until December, and the pictures weren't finished until January.

I think this was a lovely gesture which more than compensates for the late thank you.

UNDERSTANDING AUNT

DEAR AUNT: You were more understanding than most people would have been. I agree, it was a lovely gesture, but four months is about two months too long to wait for an acknowledgement.

DEAR ABBY: My husband uses a very clever gimmick to get acquainted with young women whenever we are on a vacation. He always carries a couple of cameras to make himself look like a real expert photographer, and when he sees a pretty girl, he compliments her on her figure, or face, or hair, and asks her if she would mind posing for a few pictures. This never fails. Then he offers to buy her a drink or lunch or something so he can get better acquainted with her. (Of course he takes her name and address so he can send her the pictures later.)

Sometimes he doesn't even have any film in his camera. He's 45 years old and acts like a teen-ager. Would I be within my rights to introduce myself to some of these bathing beauties and spoil his fun?

SHUTTERBUG'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Certainly. But be sure you catch him before he "clicks."

DEAR ABBY: In reference to non-Catholic attending Catholic services. I recommend that you warn them that we genuflect (kneel) before entering the pew. The first time I took my Methodist husband to church we nearly played leapfrog!

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, April 23, the 113th day of 1973. There are 252 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1838, the first regular transatlantic steamship service began as the Sirius and Great Western arrived in New York from England.

On this date:

In 1564, William Shakespeare was born at Stratford-on-Avon in England.

In 1789, President-elect and Mrs. George Washington moved into the first presidential mansion. It was at the corner of Cherry and Franklin Streets in New York.

In 1792, the French national anthem, "La Marseillaise," was written.

In 1904, the United States acquired the property of the French Panama Canal Co.

In 1941, during World War II, King George II of Greece fled to the island of Crete after German troops had broken through the Thermopolae Pass.

In 1949, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois vetoed a bill requiring that cats in the state be kept home. He said it is the nature of cats to roam a bit.

Ten years ago: The Christian Democratic party in West Germany nominated Ludwig Erhard to succeed Chancellor Konrad Adenauer as party leader.

Five years ago: A student protest that grew into a major upheaval began at Columbia University in New York.

One year ago: Two Apollo 16 astronauts blasted off from the and rejoined the command ship for the journey back to earth.

Today's birthdays: Shirley Temple Black is 45. Gen. Lucius D. Clay is 76.

Thought for Today: Critics are the men who have failed in literature and art — Benjamin Disraeli, British prime minister, 1804-1881.

Most observers agree that during the next 10 years or so, American cities will see increasing electrical brownouts. These are voltage reductions that cause electric motors to labor and burn out, TV pictures to shrink and lights to dim.

Women's spring golf banquet at Country Club attracts 60

The Washington C. H. Women's Golf Association held its annual spring dinner Wednesday evening at the Country Club with 60 members, Tony Capuana, club golf pro, and guest, Mrs. Nancy Ward, present.

The tables were centered with Easter egg trees made by Mrs. Harry Thrailkill.

Mrs. Otis Hess, general chairman conducted the meeting and welcomed the prospective members, Mrs. Dan Montgomery, Mrs. Lucille Stevenson, Mrs. Rachel Marti, Mrs. James Poison, Mrs. Everett Rudolph, Mrs. Janette Simpson, Mrs. Dottie Heckaman, and Mrs. Chester Brown.

Capuana explained the scheduled events which are planned for the coming ladies day and rules which are outlined in the ladies golf booklet.

Each year a pro-amateur benefit event is held in Columbus. Two lady golfers will represent the organization as scorekeepers. This year they are Mrs. Parker Hitzfield and Mrs. Eugene Heath. Mrs. Paul Johnson and Mrs. Paul Thornhill were selected as alternates.

Members will play golf weekly starting at 9:30 a.m. with a luncheon at 12:30 p.m. The committee will be Mrs. Harry Thrailkill, Mrs. Marsha Cook, Mrs. James Grinstead and Mrs. Allen Willoughby.

Members attending were Mrs. Ned Abbott, Mrs. John Aills, Mrs. Donald Anderson, Mrs. Ralph Bray, Mrs. A. R. Bryant, Mrs. James Conley, Mrs. Ronald Cornwell, Mrs. Paul Cummings, Miss Kathleen Davis, Mrs. Milbourne Flee, Mrs. Ray French, Mrs. Charles Griffiths, Mrs. James Grinstead, Mrs. Eugene Heath, Mrs. Robert Heiny, Mrs. William Hendren, Mrs. Otis Hess, Mrs. William Himmselspach, Mrs. Parker Hitzfield, Mrs. Ralph Hyer, Mrs. Richard Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Lary Lehman, Mrs. Bart Mahoney, Mrs. Harold Mason, Mrs. Wilson Moon, Mrs. Dan Montgomery, Mrs. Roger Miller, Mrs. Donald Moore, Mrs. Loren Noble, Mrs. Walter Oswald, Mrs. Homer Ralston, Mrs. Birch Rice, Miss Latricia Robinson, Mrs. William Robinson, Mrs. Robert Sanderson, Mrs. Charles Schneider, Mrs. Byers Shaw, Mrs. Jerry Sheppard, Mrs. George Spilker, Mrs. Charles Stevenson, Mrs. Ralph Thompson, Mrs. Marvin Thornburg, Mrs. Paul Thornhill, Mrs. James Vess, Mrs. Dale Wade, Mrs. George Walker, Mrs. William Wead, Mrs. Allen Willoughby, Mrs. Richard Wintringham, Mrs. Jack Marti, Mrs. James Kirk, Mrs. Robert Link, Mrs. James Polson, Mrs. Everett Rudolph, Mrs. Janette Simpson, Mrs. John Arbogast, Mrs. Dottie Heckaman, Mrs. Chester Brown, Mrs. Nancy Ward, Mrs. Jack Kellough, and Club Pro Tony Capuana.

Mrs. Dellinger guest of honor

Mrs. Laura Dellinger, 132 W. Oak St., who observed her 93rd birthday Thursday, was honor guest at a dinner at Duff's Restaurant in Wilmington.

Dinner guests with Mrs. Dellinger were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dellinger and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dellinger, of Washington C. H.

During the afternoon and evening, she received several visitors who extended greetings. She also received several cards, gifts and flowers from friends and her family.

Mrs. Sauer, Mr. Wood wed

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Parrett Wood are now residing at 554 Mayfair Dr., following their recent marriage. Mrs. Wood, the former Mrs. Mack Sauer formerly resided at 488 Kathryn Dr., Wilmington.

The couple was married in the Hillsboro Church of Christ by the Rev. Dr. Paul Jones at 7:30 p.m. March 28. They went to Hawaii on a 15-day tour for the wedding trip.

The former Mrs. Sauer is widely known in the area for her business connections and her many positions with charitable and civic organizations and long and unflagging work in these.

She was in the newspaper business in Missouri and when she came to Ohio she worked with her late husband in his newspapers in Leesburg, New Vienna and Lynchburg. He was also part owner of radio station WSRW, Hillsboro; she worked at that station. She is known in this area for her program 'Breakfast at Sauer's ' over WPFB radio station Middletown.

The past 11 years she was on the staff of the Clinton County National Bank and Trust Company in public relations as a teller.

For many years she has worked in heart, Red Cross, cancer associations and was treasurer of the Society for Crippled Children and Adults until she planned to marry. She is a trustee in the Central Ohio Heart Association and also in the Ohio Heart Association, did extensive Red Cross work and for 10 years worked in the cancer society.

She is a member of many social clubs and organizations. Mr. Wood is retired from the grain elevator business, moving to Washington C. H. from London 14 years ago.

Pleasant View Ladies Aid to give Bibles

The Pleasant View Ladies Aid met in the home of Mrs. H. T. Evans at Jeffersonville to reveal the members' secret sisters.

Mrs. Johnnie Bobbitt, president, called the meeting to order and Mrs. Peggy Franer gave several readings from a book given her several years ago by a former member of the group.

There were 21 present with guests, Mrs. Thelma Yenger and Mrs. Kenneth Ritenour, who later became members, and Mrs. Ed Pitzer, Mrs. Mary Rose Henderson, and the Misses Tina Yenger, Donna Bobbitt and Kathy Warnock.

Members answered roll call by naming a favorite April Fool's day joke.

It was decided to give Bibles to Tommy Cline, who will be graduated this year from Greeneview High School and to Steve Yenger, a student at Wittenberg University.

Plans for the annual lawn fete were initiated by naming the entertainment committee. It will be held July 8 at 6:30 p.m.

The next meeting will be May 16 noon in the home of Mrs. Franer.

Good food for family and guests

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Food Editor

When an accomplished author of numerous cookbooks puts together a new collection of recipes served often in her own home, you can be sure the collection is worth using. We're talking about "Good Food and How to Cook It" by Ann Seranne (William Morrow & Co.) Here Miss Seranne has concentrated on a wide variety of delicious main dishes with additional chapters on appetizers, vegetables and desserts to round out menus. The recipes come from American and international cuisine, and are written with helpful detail. They are perfect to use for family and guests.

One of the best dishes in the book originated in China and may be served as a luncheon salad or as a buffet dish. When we dried it in our test kitchen we found it superb.

LUXURIOUS CHICKEN SALAD PLATTER

Chinese-style Cooked Chicken, see below
1 head iceberg lettuce, cored and shredded
½ cup soy sauce
¼ cup honey
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon monosodium glutamate
2 cloves garlic, minced
4 green onions, chopped with as much of the green stalks as is tender
8 slices fresh ginger root (finely chopped) or ½ teaspoon ground ginger
1 teaspoon crushed dried red chili peppers
6 tablespoons peanut oil
Cherry tomatoes

Remove chicken from the liquid and slice into 2-inch pieces, about ½ inch wide. Arrange the chicken pieces in regimental fashion on the lettuce. Cover with transparent plastic wrap and return to the refrigerator.

In a small mixing bowl combine the soy sauce, honey, salt and monosodium glutamate. Add the garlic. Set aside.

In a small saucepan mix the green onion, ginger, red pepper and peanut oil. Place over low heat until mixture begins to simmer; stir into soy-sauce mixture. Set aside until needed.

Five to 10 minutes before serving, spoon the pungent dressing over the chicken to let the flavors blend. Garnish with cherry tomatoes. Serves 6.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

TUESDAY, APRIL 24

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Dealing with close associates may not be entirely satisfying, but those with persons at a distance could be extremely successful — especially if finances are involved.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

An unpleasant domestic situation should be clearing up now, so take a breather. A few hours devoted to creative work will clear up any lingering "clouds" and put your mind at east.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

If you are not sure of how to move in a certain situation, best put off action for a while; you are not likely to be rescued through luck.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Some family difficulties likely — especially with in-laws. Tact and patience on your part can be instrumental in lessening tension.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Rebellion against those in authority will not lessen your responsibilities, so calm down. Stress integrity to maintain your status.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Do not pay much attention if associates seem difficult. Many persons are "edgy" now, so don't take unseemly action personally.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Keep plans flexible: changing situations could make revision necessary. On the personal side: romance and outdoor interests highly favored.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

You are one of the few in a position to take strong and progressive action now, but be careful not to make too many waves. A certain amount of discretion needed.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

You may have an urge to gamble on speculative ventures; this, coupled with your undue optimism in finances, could have a severe effect on your resources. Care!

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

In spite of certain challenges and some opposition from those at the top, don't let your optimism run down. You are on the right track — as others will see later.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Some puzzling situations indicated. If you can touch bases with certain people at a distance, however, you can work things out.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Don't let rumors and idle speculation cause you to become restless and (or) indecisive. Carry out your plans as scheduled. Things should turn out well.

YOU BORN TODAY are unusually capable, self-reliant, persistent and responsible to a trust. You have a flair for the dramatic and may take to the theater as a career; also, your great love for the traditional would make you an excellent historian. Sympathetic and humanitarian in your impulses, the fields of education and social welfare are also fine outlets for your talents. Music and sculpture are the artistic mediums which you could easily commercialize. You can accomplish the "impossible" and normally welcome challenge with zest.

Air Guard at Lockbourne changes planes

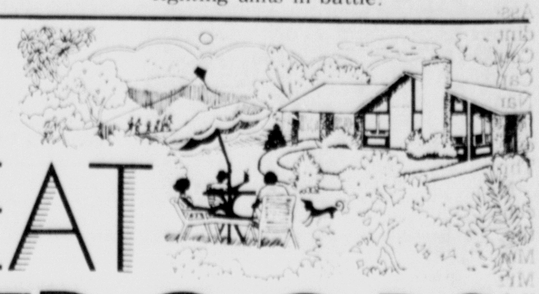

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 121st Air National Guard Group at Lockbourne Air Force Base near Columbus, Ohio, will get 18 A7D Corsair close-air support strike planes to replace 24 obsolescent F100 fighter-bombers, the Air Force announced.

The Air Force said the changeover, being made "to insure the most efficient use of existing facilities and resources to include maximum retention of Air National Guard personnel," will be completed by early next year.

The Pentagon is upgrading the weapons and equipment of reserve forces because of increased emphasis and reliance on them for early mobilization in the event of future emergencies.

The A7D has a range of more than 2,500 miles and can operate at a speed of about 700 miles an hour. It carries a 20 millimeter cannon and air-to-ground rockets. As a close-air support aircraft, its mission is to cover ground fighting units in battle.

NAVY PIONEER — Dr. Jane O. McWilliams, 26, an intern at a hospital in Syracuse, N. Y., begins training in Pensacola, Fla., this summer as the U.S. Navy's first woman flight surgeon, ministering to pilots and flight crews. Dr. McWilliams, of Paducah, Ky., said the need of the all-volunteer armed forces for new sources of "manpower" played as big a part in her breakthrough as the women's liberation movement.

Road crews slate variety of projects

City, county and state road crews have a variety of projects planned for this week if the weather clears.

Gene Fitzpatric, superintendent, of the Ohio Department of Highways, said two crews will be patching state highways throughout the county, and two crews will be working on berms. The department is also planning to remove snow fencing this week and will be picking up litter.

County Engineer Charles P. Wagner said county crews will be installing two culverts in Jefferson Township and will be ditching on the Knight Road and the Good Hope - New Holland Road.

The city crews, according to Bill Duncan, acting superintendent, will be cleaning catch basins and repairing manholes. Some streets will be patched if weather permits.

Antioch still strikebound

The strike, which began Friday, shut down classes and halted administrative functions.

A spokesman for the striking group Sunday said the strike would probably continue through this week.

Leaders of the striking students said they are asking that they be given assurance upon returning to school that funds will be available to them until they graduate.

Low and middle-income students at the school are now required to apply for financial assistance on a year-to-year basis, according to student leaders.

They said this year the problem has worsened and some students are being told that they will have to seek assistance from financial lending agencies where interest rates are higher.

Ohio statistician gets post in Washington

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The head statistician with the Ohio Crop Reporting Service for seven years, Dan Tucker, has been named chief of data collection branch for the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Washington D.C.

According to Tucker, he is to report to his new post May 15.

Ohio Perspective

Landlord backs tenants' rights

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Backers of a bill wanting more rights for tenants in their relationship with landlords got help from an unexpected source last week—a Cleveland landlord.

Jerry Hamilton of Cleveland, who owns 10 apartments in Cleveland's inner-city and is negotiating for more, said the bill could help landlords as well as tenants.

"Let's face it," he said in testimony before the Senate Judiciary Committee, "it doesn't do the average landlord any good to be grouped with slumlords who let their property deteriorate."

"This bill," he said, "would bring us landlords together and let us police our own. We could tell a guy who is letting his property run down to straighten it up or else."

Hamilton said there were several things in the bill he didn't like, but that he believed in the principle that a tenant has the right to expect a landlord to live up to his end of the bargain.

Under the bill, a tenant who reported unlawful and unsanitary conditions in an apartment dwelling and was ignored by the landlord could pay his rent to a court instead.

The court could, if it found the conditions to be true, use the money to fix up the place. The tenant could use the rent money himself to do it if the landlord didn't respond initially to his complaint. It would go into court only if there were objections from the landlord.

"I think this bill is favorable to both sides," Hamilton said. "It doesn't hurt anybody. It is right down the middle."

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, under attack from Democrats who think he is vulnerable in next year's elections, is getting endorsements from Democrats who sit on local election boards.

Several of them have written letters to Gov. John J. Gilligan and Democratic headquarters complaining about the attacks on Brown, a Republican.

Brown is the fifth member of every county board of elections.

TV Viewing

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Music Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Public Broadcasting Service tonight is presenting a made-for-television operat that is the first of its kind to originate outside of London, New York or Boston.

"Myshkin" was composed by John Eaton, an Indiana University faculty member, performed by 17 students and a teacher at the school and produced by WTIU-TV in Bloomington, Ind.

It isn't the first opera ever written for television. But it is the first in the National Educational Television Opera Theater series to come from other than a traditional opera center.

Although it has its problems, "Myshkin" is worth watching. And the impulse behind it can be applauded, hopefully continued and improved on.

Its major drawback is that its plot, based on Fyodor Dostoevesky's novel, "The Idiot," is extremely hard to follow.

And a synopsis by the composer at the beginning doesn't reveal how the opera ends. This viewer couldn't figure it out.

It may be that the novel is too complex to survive the transition to a one-hour opera in English. Then, too, the singers don't make their words understood.

But there are good things in "Myshkin," particularly composer Eaton's logical and effective use of different types of music to describe the spirit of Myshkin, an epileptic.

Eaton employs electronic music and wonderfully distorted images when Myshkin becomes irrational or sufferes seizures; traditional, though modern, music accompanies Myshkin's lucid periods.

The cast members, despite troubles with the opera's words, sing well, act well and look good. All are from the university's music school, which is best known for its opera department.

The production of "Myshkin" also is good, undoubtedly because WTIU, a public television station, already has done some 20 television opera productions, starting with "The Magic Flute" in 1954.

The Corporation of Public Broadcasting provided $50,000 for this production, one of 12 selected for CPB funding from more than 80 proposals submitted by public television stations in the United States.

The "Myshkin" libretto was written by Patrick Creagh, an Irish poet whom Eaton met when he was living and composing in Rome.

PRUNE ENERGY DIET

THE SUCCESSFUL DIET FOR ACTIVE PEOPLE

LOS ANGELES (Special)—The most important key health food known to man, neglected and overlooked by all but a small percentage who know the Hi Energy value of prunes in their daily lives. Heavy abundance of Vitamin C and E plus iron 100% digestible for all ages. This diet plan works wonders for men, women, children without pills, drugs or exercise.

Prunes give quick vital energy which is crucial in any diet. No tired, dragged-out feeling as with other diets.

10 Lbs. in 10 Days

Those who follow the simple plan exactly as directed, report a loss of 10 pounds in 10 days, starting from the day they begin the diet. There is usually no weight loss for the first 4 days, but suddenly on the 5th day you can expect to drop as much as 5 pounds, and continue to lose about a pound a day up until the 10th day. Thereafter, you'll lose a pound and a half every two days until you reach your proper weight.

Eat Almost All You Want

Better yet, you can still eat almost as much as you want of foods like steak, chicken, lobster. And you will continue to lose weight. Full money back guarantee.

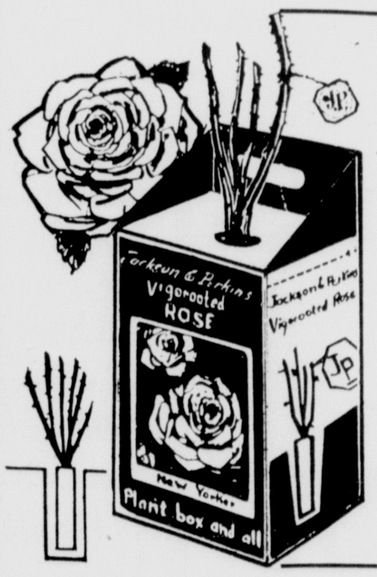

The use of prunes as prescribed by the plan, will, through natural action, act to help your body release excess fat and body fluids, allowing you to keep your weight down and figure in firm control.

Plan Available

To get a copy of this highly successful plan and suggested menus, send $2.00 cash, check or M.O. No C.O.D. please. We pay postage.

Concepcion continues torrid start

Reds notch 6-3 win over hapless Braves

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sparky Anderson said yes it's nice to have one of the league's hottest shortstops, but that it doesn't mean Dave Concepcion's got a lock on the position.

"I never will give the job to David," said the Cincinnati Reds manager. "He plays better when he knows he doesn't have it."

Concepcion, a .205 and .209 hitter the past two seasons, continued his torrid spring start Sunday by driving in four runs as the Reds won the 10th of their last 13 games with a 6-3 victory over last place Atlanta.

His solo homer and two-run double bolstered his batting average to .402 after 11 games. "This is my best start ever," said the 24-year-old native of Venezuela.

He leads the league with 14 runs batted in.

"He's always had the talent," said Anderson, who has platooned Concepcion with Darrell Chaney at shortstop.

"But he can't keep it together," said Anderson. "One of these days he'll put it altogether. We hope it's right now, because he's an untapped talent. We think he has the best all-around ability in baseball."

Concepcion said he's using a lighter bat this season and moving up on the plate.

"And he's maturing," said Anderson.

Concepcion said he is limiting his pre-game batting practice to 10 or 12 swings. "Otherwise I'm too tired late in the game, he said.

Sunday he started the Reds' scoring with a fielders choice grounder in the second inning to ignite a three-run outburst.

It was the eighth loss in nine games for the reeling Braves, who may have also lost the services of slugger Hank Aaron temporarily.

Aaron said he hurt his back during Saturday's batting practice.

"It doesn't hurt, but it bothers my swing," said Aaron, who is in a 5-for-38 slump, but has four homers.

Ed Mathews, in his first full season as manager of the Braves, said Atlanta "just isn't getting the hitting."

Mathews hinted he may return knuckleball veteran Phil Niekro to the starting rotation and also move newcomer Roric Harrison out of the bullpen and into the lineup.

Harrison pitched two innings of shutout ball Sunday, lowering his earned run average to 0.64 after 14 innings of relief.

The Reds host Cleveland Monday night in an exhibition game, while the Braves are idle.

Stan Vinson sets mark in relays

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Eastern Michigan University track Coach Bob Parks likes to call the Hurons' slender sophomore Stan Vinson "a superman with a baton in his hand."

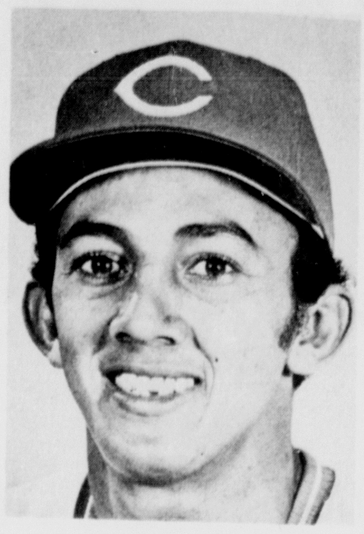

Vinson may not have been superman in the Ohio State Track Relays, but he did break the 440-yard record twice and anchored Eastern Michigan's winning mile relay.

Dark Diller victor in Lebanon feature

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Dark Diller, a 7-2 shot, took charge at the three-quarter mark to upset favorites Hurry Home and Wingait Champion in the $2,250 feature race at Lebanon Raceway Saturday night.

The winner won by a nose and returned $10.80, $4 and $3. Hurry Home paid $3 and $2.40. Wingait Champion was $3 to show.

An all-time handle of $253,380 was established as 4,425 fans turned out on a balmy night.

Nicklaus tops Trevino by one in fierce duel

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — "Oh, that's fun," Jack Nicklaus said. "That's the whole thing."

"That's what this game is about. Here was Lee in a spurt and then I made birdies on three of the last seven holes.

"That's the whole thing—responding to a challenge, playing the way you want to play, doing the things you want to do, and winning. On the other hand, if you lose, it kills you."

Nicklaus had just scored a record fourth career victory in the $200,000 MONY-Tournament of Champions, a golf event he ranks right behind the big four of the U.S. and British Opens, the Masters and PGA.

"When I was able to come back like that, with three birdies on the last seven holes, well, that's the way to finish a tournament. I'm doubly pleased about it because my other two wins this year were both marginal, in playoffs."

The Golden Bear, who stretched his season's leading money-winning total to $146,604, fashioned a rallying four-underpar 68 on the tough, demanding, 7,114-yard La Costa Country Club course. He had a 72 hole total of 276, 12 under par.

Trevino, who actually took a two stroke lead at one time, couldn't hang on. His 67 was the best round of the warm, sunny day but his 277 total was one stroke too much to record the victory he needed to become pro golf's fourth $1 million winner.

"Well, there's next year," Trevino said. "I've always said Nicklaus is the greatest golfer in the world. Any time I can beat him, I'm lucky."

But the challenge seemed to serve only as a spur to the 33-year-old Golden Bear who now is the season's first three-time winner.

He wedged to about a half foot for a birdie on the 12th hole just as Trevino was three-putting for bogey on the 13th. That was a two-stroke swing in Nicklaus' favor and suddenly they were tied.

Trevino birdied the 15th just as Nicklaus did the same on the 14th, but Jack went ahead to stay on the 15th where he punched his approach just to the left of the flag. The ball sucked back to pin high and he had a little four-foot putt for birdie. Nicklaus made it and had the margin he needed.

Trevino picked up $23,404 for second and pushed his career earnings to some $985,137. Only Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper have gone past $1 million in a career.

Jim Colbert was third with a 69-281 and Chi Chi Rodriguez was next with 69-282. Both made brief runs at the leaders, but faded back and left the duel to the game's two greatest players.

Rookie stuns Gibson in Phils' 2-1 victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Gibson pumped and pitched. It was right down Mike Schmidt's alley—a juicy fastball inside.

"I was looking for something there," said Schmidt after hitting a two-out, ninth-inning home run off the Old Master Sunday to give the Philadelphia Phillies a 2-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals and a sweep of their doubleheader.

Schmidt, who also got a hit as the Phillies won the opener 4-2 behind Steve Carlton, didn't find Gibson an easy mark until the ninth.

"He was everything I ever dreamed he would be," said the Phillies' rookie. "But he threw me down and in and that is the pitch I hit out of the park."

How does a rookie feel hitting one out off the Cardinal star?

"I never remember being this excited about anything," said Schmidt, who only got into 13 games last season.

The Phillies' victories gave them a three-game sweep of the Cardinals and put them over .500 with a 7-6 record—euphorious status considering last year's disastrous 59-97 record.

In the other National League games, the San Francisco Giants trimmed the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-2; the Houston Astros nipped the San Diego Padres 4-3; the Cincinnati Reds beat the Atlanta Braves 6-3; the Montreal Expos defeated the New York Mets 2-1 in the 10th inning of the first game of a doubleheader, then lost the second game 13-3, and Pittsburgh and Chicago split a doubleheader with the Pirates winning the opener 10-4 and the Cubs the nightcap, 11-3.

Before Schmidt won the second game Hollywood-style, Carlton won the opener in his usual style—power pitching.

The Cards scored two early unearned runs off Carlton, but the big left-hander stayed calm and won his third game in five decisions as Bill Robinson and Larry Bowa each knocked in two runs.

Garry Maddox slugged a three-run homer and also doubled to lead the Giants past the Dodgers. Jim Barr and Randy Moffitt combined on a five-hitter.

Roger Metzger singled home the winning dun to cap a three-run rally in the sixth inning as Houston beat San Diego.

Dave Concepcion drove in four runs with a homer and double and Ross Grimsley survived three Atlanta home runs as the Reds beat the Braves. Johnny Oates, Dusty Baker and Darrell Evans hit homers off the Red ace.

Tim Foli's two-out single in the 10th inning scored Boots Day from second base and gave Montreal its first-game victory over New York. In the nightcap, Jim McAndrew won his first game of the season with relief help from George Stone as the Mets exploded for their highest run tot l this year.

Pittsburgh whipped Chicago in the opener of their doubleheader as Bob Robertson and Willie Stargell hit two homers apiece. The Cubs came back to win the second game as Ron Santo and Rick Monday hit two-run homers.

Madison County fire kills 30 race horses

LONDON — A fire at the Madison County Fairgrounds Sunday night took the lives of 30 standardbred horses valued at more than $300,000.

Twenty other horses were rescued from the 50-year-old wooden barn, some of them suffering from smoke inhalation. No estimate was available for the 64-stall, cross-shaped frame barn built around 1930. The building also housed a sale and show arena.

The cause of the blaze could not be determined by fire department officials. They said no one was in the barn at the time of the fire, which occured at 5:30 p.m., shortly after the horses were fed.

FIRE COMPANIES from five surrounding townships aided the London department in putting out the blaze.

Witnesses reported the fire was visible for several miles around the city. Firemen managed to prevent the blaze from spreading to the nearby racetrack grandstands.

Hardest hit by the blaze was the Dick Hackett stables which lost 17 horses in the fire. The William (Doc) McMillen stables lost 12 horses, reportedly his entire stable.

Hackett horses lost in the blaze included Weather Vane, Quaker Oil, Let Her Streak and Menagerie and eight unraced two-year-olds.

Most of the horses in both stables were being readied for the 1973 campaign at Scioto Downs, which opens May 18. The trotters and pacers were kept at the fairgrounds and the track was used as a training facility.

Cincinnati Swords turn back Wings, 6-2

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Swords move to the Virginia Wings' home ice Tuesday and Thursday for games three and four of the best of seven semi-final American Hockey League Calder Cup series.

Cincinnati, on Billy Inglis' goahead and insurance goals in the final period evened up the series Sunday night at one each. The Swords beat the Wings 6-2.

Tribe rookie slams in split with Bosox

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Whoever said that anyone with a bat in his hand is dangerous certainly wasn't referring to Ron Lolich or John Vukovich...until Sunday.

Lolich, a 26-year-old Cleveland outfielder, had failed to hit in his one previous at-bat this season and came into the campaign with a lifetime mark of .182 and only two home runs in 88 trips.

But he stepped to the plate with the bases loaded and two out in the bottom of the ninth inning and crashed a grand slam home run off Boston's Sonny Siebert to give the Indians a thrilling 8-7 victory in the first part of a doubleheader. The Red Sox came back to take the nightcap 5-2.

Vukovich's statistics were even worse than Lolich's. The 25-year-old infielder spent part of the 1970 and 1971 seasons with the Philadelphia Phillies and showed a meager .164 average in 225 at-bats with nary a home run—or even a triple, for that matter.

So it was a distinct surprise when he unloaded a three-run homer off relief ace Sparky Lyle in the seventh inning that lifted the Milwaukee Brewers, who obtained him in an off-season trade, to a 4-3 triumph over the New York Yankees.

Elsewhere in the American League, Kansas City split a twin bill with the Chicago White Sox, losing 8-4 before winning 6-1; Baltimore defeated Detroit 5-3, Oakland edged California 3-2 in 10 innings and Minnesota beat Texas 6-4.

Home runs by Rico Petrocelli, Reggie Smith and Carl Yastrzemski helped the Red Sox open the 7-4 lead that Lolich wiped out with one swing. Oscar Gamble and Jack Brohamer also homered for the Indians.

The Red Sox sealed the nightcap with four runs in the fifth inning, highlighted by Tommy Harper's two-run single. Charlie Spikes homered for the Indians.

As befits an .042 hitter, which was his pregame mark, Milwaukee's Vukovich wasn't thinking home run when he came to bat with two runners aboard and the Brewers trailing 3-1, even though he'd had a single earlier in the game.

"The way I've been swinging, a home run was the farthest thing from my mind," he confessed.

A five-run second inning featuring Carlos May's three-run homer powered the White Sox over the Royals in their opener.

In the nightcap, the Royals slammed five doubles, two by Steve Hovley, to gain a split.

Left fielder Willie Horton was both hero and goat in the sixth inning of Detroit's loss to Baltimore. He doubled home the lead run in the top of the frame and then made an error on Don Baylor's single in the bottom half that allowed three decisive runs to score.

Ted Kubiak singled home the winning run with two out in the 10th inning as the A's edged the Angels.

Steve Braun's three-run tiebreaking double in the sixth inning was the key blow in Minnesota's triumph over Texas.

Ohio whips Hoosiers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Good basketball for a good cause is what the Ohio-Indiana college all-star basketball series is all about, and Ohio University coach Jim Snyder believes the fourth annual event was a success.

"We told them to move the ball and have some fun and put on a good show for the fans," Snyder said after the Ohio squad whipped the Hoosiers 100-82 Saturday night. "I think they did that and I was really pleased."

Allan Hornyak of Ohio State pumped in 31 points to lead the Buckeye squad to victory after the Indiana all-stars had won the first game of the two-game 1973 series Friday night.

Indiana holds a 5-3 advantage for the eight games played since the Sertoma benefit began in 1970.

Hornyak, who later was voted the most valuable player, was backed up by Leonard Paul of Akron with 20 points.

John Ritter of Indiana University paced the Hoosiers with 15 points. His teammate, Steve Downing, who took scoring honors Friday night, was held to seven points.

Indiana wins

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Indiana University nipped Ohio State University, 1,152 to 1,157, and won the Kepler Invitational college golf tournament Sunday at Ohio State's Scarlet course.

Knicks take cliffhanger from Celtics; 2 overtimes

NEW YORK (AP) — The Boston Celtics won the first three periods Sunday afternoon—but the New York Knicks came back to take the next three, and a 117-110 double-overtime decision over the Celtics.

The victory in Game 4 gave the Knicks a commanding 3-1 lead over the Celtics in their National Basketball Association Eastern Conference playoff finals, and they can wrap it up by winning the fifth game Wednesday night in Boston.

The Los Angeles Lakers, ahead 3 games to 0 in their best-of-7 Western Division playoff finals against the Golden State Warriors, can finish that series tonight in Game 4 in Oakland.

Over in the ABA, Indiana has taken its second consecutive Western playoff crown by defeating the Utah Stars in six games, while the Eastern Division finals' winner will be decided Tuesday night. Kentucky and Carolina, each with three victories, meet in Greensboro, N.C. for Game 7.

"I have never seen a game in so many stages," said Walt Frazier, who scored a gamehigh 37 points, including 15 in the furious fourth-quarter rally which saw the Knicks erase a 16-point deficit.

"In the first half I was bad, in the third quarter I was worse," said Frazier. "After three quarters, when Boston led 72-56, I just wanted to get it over with.

"It's a good thing you can't quit, because we would have conceded the game right there. It looked like a lost cause."

Not so. As Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn said later, "You have to be 20 points up in the last quarter to beat New York — and we were only ahead by 16."

Boston, hobbled by the absence of team captain John Havlicek, sidelined by torn muscles in his right shoulder, simply ran out of gas in the final period. Heinsohn was unable to substitute as freely as he would have liked, and his regulars were obviously tired in the late stages. Boston guards Don Chaney and Jo Jo White and center Dave Cowens all eventually fouled out.

Kentucky Derby wide open

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

To run or not to run in the 99th Kentucky Derby? That is the problem facing many horse trainers today. One trainer is trying to decide whether two great horses will start and two trainers are feuding over another standout who may or may not start.

The May 5 classic also could run into traffic jam problems, since the greatest early Derby favorite of all time, Secretariat, showed he's fallible when he was soundly defeated in the Wood Memorial.

That defeat has trainers the nation over thinking seriously again of the fragrance of American Beauty roses that go with a Derby victory. It could mean a field of 15 to 20—again.

But, apparently, that field won't include California Derby winner Linda's Chief.

Al Scotti, trainer for Neil Hellman's Eastern String, paid a visit to Golden Gate fields Saturday, watching Hellman's Linda's Chief score easily.

Afterward, he and Rob Frankel, Hellman's West Coast trainer, disagreed over the colt's chances in the most famous horse race in America—the 1¼-mile classic at Louisville for 3-year-olds.

Frankel, the leading trainer last season at Hollywood Park with victories in half of his 180 starts, said the horse simply wasn't ready to go to the eastern classics right now.

Scotti said just the opposite and Hellman decided to let the two work it out. Frankel apparently won. It was revealed Sunday night that Linda's Chief may pass up the Kentucky Derby.

Meantime, in New York, trainer Lucien Laurin found himself with Meadow Stud's Secretariat, the first odds-on winter book favorite in Derby history, and Angle Light under the same shedrow.

In case you're behind the times, Angle Light, racing under the Edwin Whittaker silks, soundly whipped Secretariat Saturday in the Wood. In fact, there was a horse between them—Sham.

Before that 1:49 4-5—the winning time of the Wood, Secretariat pretty well had the Kentucky Derby conceded to him. Now, frankly, he hasn't.

14 auto deaths mar Ohio holiday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fourteen persons were killed on Ohio highways over the Easter weekend, three fewer than died the weekend before.

The dead included four pedestrians.

The weekend count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

The dead:

FRIDAY NIGHT

COLUMBUS — Steven Ison, 7, Columbus, struck by a car at an intersection while he was riding a bicycle.

CHARDON — Robert Doychak, 36, Lakewood, when he jumped from a truck after its brakes failed.

TIFFIN — Scott J. Swope, 17, and his brother, Steven, 21, of Tiffin, when their car ran off a curve on a Seneca County road two miles north of Tiffin and crashed into a ravine.

SATURDAY

BARNESVILLE — Michael R. Secrest, 19, Barnesville, in a single-car accident in Barnesville.

VAN WERT — Kelly Zoe Lawrence, 6, Van Wert, when she apparently ran in front of a car near her home.

OTTAWA HILLS — Pamela J. Eddy, 10, Ottawa Hills, when she was struck by a car.

WARREN — Edith Matthews, 68, Brookfield, in a two-car crash in Southington.

TOLEDO — Cornelius McElhannon, 37, Lorain, in a one-car accident on Ohio 2 in Lucas County.

CHARDON — Curtice D. Byler, 16, Middlefield, in a two-car wreck on Ohio 608 in Geauga County.

CINCINNATI — Michael Mills, 18, Barbourville, Ky., as he hitchhiked along I-75 north of Cincinnati.

MIDDLEBURG HEIGHTS — Mary Kirchling, 81, of Middleburg Heights, struck by a car on Bagley Road in Middleburg Heights in Cuyahoga County.

SUNDAY

EUCLID — Clyde Minnick, 16, of Wickliffe, in a one-car accident in Euclid.

GEORGETOWN — David Hurt, 18, Seaman, two miles south of his hometown on Ohio 247 in a one-car accident.

Man and woman slain in Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A man and a woman were shot to death Sunday night in a south side residence, according to Columbus police.

Police said Mrs. Linda Harbour, 27, and Farris Marion Castle, 28, both of Columbus, were found dead from bullet wounds in Mrs. Harbour's residence.

Police are searching for a suspect and said they believe the motive for the killings was jealousy.

Ohio mental patients taught 'humanization'

By HENRY HEILBRUNN
Associated Press Writer

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — In each of the state's six mental retardation institutes, some residents are being taught "humanization."

State officials and families hope they will be able to use what they learn.

Dr. Kenneth D. Gaver, director of the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, explains "humanization" as "a chance for privacy, for possessions, for ownership, for option. It means a physical, spiritual, social and personal environment that makes one feel human again, human in the most noble sense of the word.

"It means a chance for growth, for participation, for graduation."

"Humanization" for 13-year-old Jimmy Sidles means polite manners, dressing himself, cleanliness and constructive recreation.

"Jimmy came out of the worst ward in the state of Ohio," said his mother, Mrs. Jo Ann Sidles or Richfield. "It had wall-to-wall children. They survived by stealing food from each others' plates.

"They were living in their own excretement. Two people tried to care for 40 to 50 children.

"On Sunday afternoons we would take him out of Apple Creek to clean him up. We would take him to a public restroom, sit him on our lap and wash him."

"Humanization" still is an infant — eight pilot programs of training, kindness and cheerful surroundings reaching only 1,000 retardees. The state had 8,831 retarded persons institutionalized at the beginning of 1973.

The families and the state look at "humanization" and see a promised land, but they must cross a mountain of money and a desert of manpower before they get to that haven for the disadvantaged.

"Two years ago," said Rep. James Mueller, D-74 Chesterland, "we were not even delivering the services that a good zoo delivers to some of its animals, but the amount of progress to upgrade the kids is still minimal."

Dr. James Gardner of Columbus, a clinical psychologist whou quit his job at Orient State Institute in Pickaway County to file two suits against the state to improve care, said, "The program is a small attempt to create humanizing conditions, but one a small attempt affecting a small number of retarded people in Ohio."

"In order to have a really good program, we have to up expenditures by at least 50 per cent of what we have today," Mueller said. He wants to spend another $32 million each year, but said the legislature will not agree.

To drop resident-to-attendant ratio equal to "humanization" ward levels of eight-to-one, the state must hire 2,000 aides at an added expense of $12 million.

"Humanization" has large institutions growing smaller and smaller, community homes thriving, schools and sheltered workshops for the retarded springing up.

James White, executive director of the Ohio Association of Retarded Children, estimated 2,000 retarded residents of state institutions could be returned to the communities.

One Orient State official said 500 residents could be placed immediately in the community, if room existed. No facility exists for graduates of Apple Creek's "humanization" program.

Dr. Roger M. Gove, commissioner of the Division of Mental Retardation, said the state has funds for community homes, but urban areas balk at establishing them.

"It is a combination of not willing and not able to accept residents back into the community," he said.

The final product of humanization — graduation or discharge — appears distant. Dr. Gove said several hundred residents could be placed back in communities, but zoning laws particularly in Youngstown, Toledo, Cincinnati and Columbus are troublesome.

"People are surrounded by suspicions and myths about the mentally retarded," a division spokesman said. "There is only so much we as a department of state can do unless people accept it."

Barry Goldwater Jr. to speak in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Rep. Barry M. Goldwater Jr., R-Calif., will speak here May 4 before the spring conference of the Ohio Federation of Republican Women.

The 34-year-old Goldwater is the son of the 1964 Republican presidential nominee. He is serving his third term in Congress.

About 450 women are expected to attend the conference May 3-5.

Nixon hears sermon on sin, vacations on private island,

GRAND CAY, Bahamas (AP) — President Nixon vacationed with two of his close friends today, enjoying the seclusion of a private island in the Bahamas.

With him was C. G. "Bebe" Rebozo, his next-door neighbor at the Florida White House, and island owner Robert Abplanalp, president of Precision Valve Co., Bronxville, N.Y.

Nixon helicoptered here Sunday after attending Easter services with his family at the Key Biscayne Presbyterian Church.

There, the minister, the Rev. John A. Huffman Jr., delivered a sermon that urged a return to moral principles and suggested a change in current lifestyle.

"I don't like to talk about sin," said the minister, "but let's face it, it's a fact of our society. It's a fact of your life and my life."

Huffman said being seriously religious might mean "there will be business dealings you'll have to stay out of... there'll be friendships that you will have to break off and there'll be some courageous statements that are going to be tough to make."

But, he added, "there's nothing you've done that cannot be forgiven, nothing that God can't sweep away and give you a fresh, new start."

With the Watergate investigation prominent in newspaper headlines Sunday, the minister was asked if he was alluding to the case in his sermon, especially when he cited a Biblical passage about incient King Agrippa:

"For the king knoweth of these things... I am persuaded that none of these things are hidden from him; for this thing was not—one in a corner."

Asked about the sermon, Huffman replied: "I preach the gospel of Jesus Christ. I speak it clearly. You can draw your own implications... Whatever the President wishes to make of it was between him and the Lord."

Huffman said he had decided on the sermon long before he knew Nixon was coming.

Columbus man drowns

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Michael Disstefano, 21, of Columbus, drowned early Sunday in a pool at a far east side apartment complex.

In 1972, commercial honey production in the United States reached 106,050,000 pounds, up 13 per cent from 1971.

College program aimed at vets

By GARY LUHR
Associated Press Writer

PIKEVILLE, KY. (AP) — A member of President Nixon's task force on higher education for Vietnam era veterans thinks too often colleges' efforts to attract veterans "end at the admissions office."

DENNIS LOVE

"Veterans have the maturity and motivation (to succeed in college) but often lack academic self confidence," said Dennis Love, dean of developmental studies at Pikeville College.

Since coming to Kentucky, the 30-year-old Ohio native has spent part of his time traveling to other schools promoting programs "to get the veteran back on his feet."

"It's a matter of saying to the veteran, 'College is not as hard as you think,' " Love said.

At Pikeville, this effort is known as the Veterans Educational Training Program, a study skills course that covers such basics as how to take notes, how to outline a textbook, how to listen in class and how to prepare for examinations.

"A lot of veterans went into the Army because they flunked out of college or because they couldn't get in in the first place," Love said.

"Many saw the army as a means of upward mobility but a lot of them came back without any usable skills," he said.

The most recent rigures from Frankfort listed about 16,000 unemployed veterans in Kentucky.

"The biggest problem (in getting veterans to college) is reaching them," Love said.

In many places, he said veterans who already have returned to college are working in outreach programs. "But even they are having trouble reaching other vets," he said.

TRADITIONAL methods aren't working, he said. Among new methods he described is a mobile van in Detroit that visits neighborhoods where returning veterans live. Another includes advertising in "want ad" columns, "which is often the only thing a veteran is reading these days," he said.

"The Veterans Administration is doing all it can. The states, the cities and the colleges themselves have to do more," Love said.

Before coming to Pikeville, Love headed a similar veterans program at the University of Detroit. There, he said, veterans who took his course averaged grades that were twice as good as those who didn't.

Love said a class predominately for veterans serves another purpose in that it gives them a chance to talk about mutual problems and experiences.

This is especially important, he said, because unlike previous post-war periods there no longer are large, easily identifiable groups of veterans on campuses.

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Dropsy, Move Over for Edema

When I was young I remember that my father said he was bothered by dropsy.

We never hear about dropsy anymore. Is it a disease that has been wiped out by antibiotics?

Miss E. G., Del.

Dear Miss G.:

Dropsy is not a disease; rather it is a symptom. It refers to an unusual accumulation and retention of fluid in the tissues of the body.

The term "dropsy" is outdated. It has been replaced by the word "edema." Both are used almost interchangeably. Chronic diseases of the heart, the liver, kidneys, and impaired blood circulation can be responsible for the abnormal collection of fluid in the body tissue.

When swelling or edema is recognized, the basic cause must be found and remedied in order to rid the body of the burden of excess fluids.

When I am nervous or under unusual strain, my heart gives a few extra beats. It scares me, and takes me a half hour to calm down again.

How serious is this?

Mrs. N. N., Colo.

Dear Mrs. N.:

Many people describe this feeling by saying, "My heart was in my mouth."

This is how they describe what is known by physicians as extra "systoles."

Normally, the heart beats at a regular rhythm, with fixed intervals of rest between each beat. Occasionally, the rhythm is thrown off, and an extra beat occurs to produce the sensation you describe.

Fatigue, emotional stress, overindulgence in alcohol and tobacco may be responsible for these extra beats, or extra systoles.

In most instances, they are of no importance and do not indicate heart damage or heart disease. They are not a cause for alarm. They are, however, a cause for rightful concern which can be alleviated by the simple process of a complete examination, including an electrocardiogram.

This would be reassuring and free you of anxiety, which in itself can cause the extra systoles.

My wife has never been the same since her palm was read and she was told something about her "life line."

Can you help me relieve her fears by telling her if longevity can be really determined by the "life line" in the hand?

Mr. A. R., Maine

Dear Mr. R.:

For centuries people have been caught in the trap of mysticism that surrounds such inept "medical guidance." There is no validity to the estimation of longevity by a particular line in the palm.

It sometimes takes a great deal of effort to eradicate the unfounded fears implanted in the minds of sensitive people. These people should not expose themselves to such unscientific interpretation.

Opening lead - two of spades.

In most deals declarer has a monopoly on deception during the play. He can play his cards in any fashion he wishes, not caring a particle whether he fools partner, while the defenders, on the other hand, each run the risk of fooling the other if they attempt deception.

However, this doesn't mean that the defenders never have their innings. They too can sometimes steer a deceptive course and in that way mislead declarer.

One of the best examples of keen defensive play is this hand where Edgar Kaplan, prominent New York star, sat East. He saw, as soon as dummy appeared, that there was no hope of beating the contract unless West had the ace of clubs. Dummy had eight winners in sight and South, on the bidding, clearly had a spade trick.

So when West led a spade, Kaplan won with the ace instead of the king. He wanted to sell declarer the idea that West had the king of spades, even though he realized his play would cause West to think that South had it.

Kaplan then led the king of clubs — another deliberately misleading play, since he lacked the ace or queen to back it up. The purpose was to persuade declarer that his lead was from the A-K

When the king won, Kaplan returned a low club, presenting South with a crucial guess. After a long struggle, declarer played the queen — basing his decision on the assumption that Kaplan's overcall was made with the ace of spades and A-K of clubs.

West took the queen with the ace, returned a spade, and declarer went down two when East cashed two club tricks.

Had Kaplan won the first spade with the king and returned a low club, South would almost surely have played low and made three notrump.

Snakehandling, drinking of poison eyed by court

NEWPORT, Tenn. (AP) — Does the handling of poisonous snakes and the drinking of poison at religious services jeopardize the peace, good order and morals of society?

That is the question Circuit Court Judge George R. Shepherd is asked to answer today as the state seeks to stop such practices by members of the Holiness Church of God in Jesus Name.

The Rev. Liston Pack and four members of his congregation of 48 were cited to appear before Shepherd after two men died April 8 from drinking strychnine at the church.

Pack said the men, the Rev. Jimmy Ray Williams, 34, assistant pastor, and Buford Pack, 30, drank the poison to test their faith. Buford Pack was Liston Pack's brother.

Although Dist. Atty. Henry F. Swann obtained a temporary injunction last week to prohibit church members' handling snakes and drinking poison, snakes were handled at a subfequent service.

Pack has said the tiny mountain congregation will go on cradling the reptiles in their arms and drinking poison despite any court rulings.

"We've given no thought to quitting," said Pack, adding that he and his flock regard God's law as higher than man's.

"We try to obey the laws of the land, but God's law comes first," explained Pack, who makes his living driving a truck.

In asking that the church members be barred permanently from handling snakes and drinking poison at their services, Swann said:

"This case is not intended to interfere with the right and freedom of worship, but religious guarantees cannot be invoked to the point of jeopardizing the peace, good order and morals of society."

Handling poisonous snakes at a religious service is a misdemeanor in Tennessee, punishable by a fine of $50 to $150 and a jail term up to six months.

The Pack brothers and Williams were convicted in October 1970 of handling snakes, but judgment was reserved and no fines were levied.

Pedestrian injured in rural accident

A pedestrian was slightly injured in one of five traffic accidents investigated in the city-county area over the weekend by police and sheriff's departments.

One driver was cited in the mishaps which caused moderate property damage.

Richard W. Ratliff, 16, Rt. 3, Sabina, was treated at Memorial Hospital for an injury to his right leg suffered when he was struck by a car near Milledgeville Sunday evening.

Sheriff's deputies said Ratliff was walking east on the north side of Milledgeville-Octa Road and ran across the road into the path of an eastbound car driven by Jo Ann Ison, 20, of 1357 N. North St. The left front of the Ison car struck Ratliff, knocking him to the pavement.

He was released after treatment in the emergency room.

Carl H. Janes, 62, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville, was cited for failure to maintain assured clear distance after a two-car crash on Columbus Avenue at Wilson Street Saturday afternoon.

Officers said a car driven by Marsha L. Perry, 21, of 301 E. Circle Ave., stopped tor a traffic light and was struck in the rear by the Janes car. Both vehicles were moderately damaged.

Other mishaps investigated were:

POLICE

SATURDAY, 11:09 a.m. — Cars driven by Barbara L. Dean, 34, of 507 Frank St., and Linda . Cadwallader, 31, Hillsboro, were involved in a minor crash on Frank Street, near Nelson Place; damage minor.

SHERIFF

SATURDAY, 10:21 a.m. — A car driven by Melodie Carner, 18, of 1125 Campbell St., received damage to the undercarriage when it hit a culvert on private property near Jeffersonville; damage minor.

SUNDAY, 2:15 p.m. — A car driven by William E. Camp, 20, Rt. 4, skidded off Parrott Station Road at Ohio 41 as he attempted to stop and collided with a culvert; damage moderate.

BancOhio enters Cleveland field

CLEVELAND — A new development in banking occurred as BancOhio Corp. completed the purchase of the Capital National Bank, Cleveland, marking the first entry into Ohio's largest market by Ohio's largest multi-bank holding company.

According to Philip F. Searle, president and chief executive officer of BancOhio, and Frank B. Fisher, president and chief executive officer of Capital National Bank, the affiliation was accomplished by BancOhio's purchase of the bank, an $8.5 million cash transaction, from Shelter Resources Corp. Acting in compliance with bank holding company legislation, Shelter Resources divested itself of the bank in order to continue expansion in the mobile home industry and other related activities.

With its entrance into the Greater Cleveland area, BancOhio will nearly double its market potential in Ohio. With the inclusing of Capital National Bank, the 35 BancOhio affiliates are capable of serving approximately 70 per cent of Ohio's 10.7 million population.

Two boards to eye ditch improvement

A joint meeting of Fayette and Greene County boards of commissioners will be held Tuesday to discuss the request for the extension of the Grassy Branch Ditch improvement project.

The proposed extension of the project is east of the Allen Road in Jasper Township.

The two boards previously approved the original phase at a preliminary hearing. A final hearing has not been scheduled.

Fayette County commissioners currently are seeking cost estimates for the repainting of the Courthouse and the Welfare Building.

Courts

CASE DISMISSED

The damage suit filed by Elizabeth A. and Wilson Harper, Rt. 1, Good Hope, against Carl C. Stackhouse, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville, and the Agrico Chemical Co., Robinson Road, has been dismissed on a motion by the plaintiffs. The plaintiffs sought $30,000 as damages in connection with a traffic accident Jan. 4, 1971.

MARRIAGE APPLICATION

DELINQUENT CHILDREN

Two sisters, ages 11 and 12, placed on probation of Officer Marshall Boggs when they were found to be delinquent children by Juvenile Court Judge Rollo M. Marchant. The girls were charged with the break-in of a dwelling to steal rings.

Officers check wide variety of complaints

A variety of complaints, ranging from assault to grand larceny, were investigated by police and sheriff's departments over the weekend. Four persons, including two juveniles, were arrested in connection with the inquiries.

An alert off-duty Washington C.H. police officer arrested a 22-year-old local man for petty larceny at Buckeye Mart Saturday afternoon.

Leonard Kelly, 22, of 721 Gregg St., was charged by Patrolman Michael Stritenberger after Kelly allegedly attempted to leave the store without paying for two hats valued at $5.77. The officer said Kelly put the two hats under his coat and left the store. Stritenberger stopped Kelly outside the store and placed him under arrest. He is presently lodged in the city jail under $200 bond.

ASSAULT CHARGES were filed against Fred E. Jones, 21, of 317 Lewis St., after he allegedly molested a local woman Sunday afternoon.

The women told police she was standing near the intersection of Lewis and Brown streets, waiting for her ride, when Jones walked up and asked her directions to Greenfield. She said Jones then began fondling her but fled when a car approached.

He was later apprehended and released after posting $100 bond.

Two girls, ages 14 and 15, were arrested by sheriff's deputies in separate shoplifting incidents at the Sea-way store Saturday.

Officers said both girls had gone to the shoe department and allegedly exchanged the shoes they were wearing for new ones, then attempted to leave the store. Both were later released to the custody of their parents.

THREE JUVENILES, escapees from the Fairfield School for Boys, were arrested just inside the Fayette County line after stealing a car in Amanda early Monday.

Sheriff's deputies said the trio was apprehended on U.S. 35 by Highway Patrol officers and removed to the Chillicothe jail. They had abandoned the car in Ross County about two miles south of the line and were walking north when finally apprehended.

Fayette County deputies assisted in the arrests.

Lester Jordan, Rt. 3, reported that someone entered a barn on his Washington-Waterloo Road farm and removed minimum tillage attachments from his eight-row corn planter. Jordan said the theft took place sometime after the first of the year. Loss of the attachments was set at $600.

A .25 caliber automatic pistol was stolen from Dunn's Bait Store, Waterloo, Friday. The gun, valued at $79, was removed from a counter at the store.

A BANK containing $35 in half dollars was stolen from the Gerald Raypole home sometime Friday night. Raypole said his wife had accidentally left the key in the front door when they left the house Friday night. Another bank containing $10 in change also was emptied.

Richard Sefton, of 1206 Nelson Place, reported that a large plate glass window was broken from the front of his home early Sunday. Police said someone apparently had thrown a marble at the window. Damage was estimated at $60.

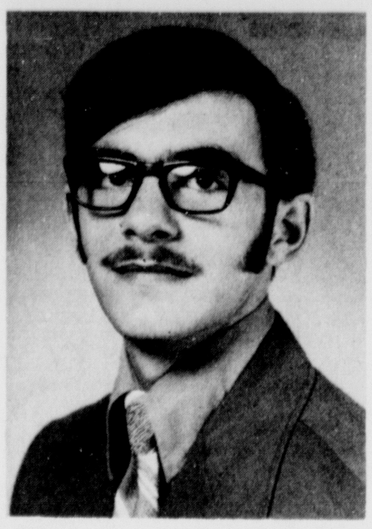

Kevin Jones, 13, Rt. 6, was treated at Memorial Hospital for a dogbite suffered at the Frank Groves residence, 346 W. Court St., Saturday afternoon. He was released after treatment.

Police seek trio following gun battle

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Police in Toledo and Michigan are continuing their hunt sor three men who shot at Lucas County Sheriff's Deputy Robert Chromik Sunday during a high speed chase.

Sheriff's officers said the 25-year-old Chromik allegedly surprised the trio during a breakin attempt.

The chase followed and one of the three men shot out the cruiser's windshield, shattering it, according to officers. Chromik was treated at a local hospital and released after running his cruiser into a ditch.

EAGLE SCOUT — Jeffrey Eugene Emrick, 17, of Columbus, received his Eagle Scout award in ceremonies at Westerville. A senior in Brookhaven High School, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Emrick, of Columbus, and grandson of Mrs. Margaret Emrick and the late Raymond Emrick, of Washington C. H. His Explorer Post 972 is sponsored by the American Motorcycle Association and the troop's activites include motorcycle travel and camping trips.

Brennan to get zoning panel post

Sewage plant matters on City Council slate

An ordinance approving temporary improvements to the wastewater treatment plant, and a resolution confirming the appointment of Jack F. Brennan to the Zoning Board of Appeals are among items on the agenda for the regular Wednesday night meeting of City Council.

The treatment plant ordinance is for the approval of plans and specifications for the construction of temporary sludge facilities. It also authorizes the taking of bids for the project.

Brennan is to fill the unexpired term of Glenn Tatman on the Zoning Board. Tatman has been employed as the city's building inspector.

Another ordinance on the agenda is for the approval of codified ordinances and to repeal conflicting ordinances.

City Manager Dan Wolford said Council previously approved the recodification project. The new legislation is for the approval of the manuscript prepared by a firm under contract with the city.

OTHER proposed new legislation authorizes the city manager to enter into a contract for preventative maintenance services on traffic signal controls and authorizes payment to Char-Mac, Inc., for repair work at the sewage treatment plant.

Council also is scheduled to take action on the second reading or ordinances establishing fees for applications submitted to the Planning Commission and to purchase parking meter tickets. The third reading of an ordinance accepting the resubdivision of several lots in the Storybrook Addition is also on the agenda.

A joint meeting of the Council and the Union Township Board of Trustees will be held at 7 p.m. Wednesday. The first quarter report on the operation of Washington Cemetery will be presented.

School systems get state funds

The Miami Trace and Washington C. H. City School Districts received a total of $100,430.72 in April under the State School Foundation program, according to State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson. The total net payments to Ohio's 616 school districts amounted to $37,937,283.13.

The city district was allotted $60,749.32, less deductions of $1,773 for school employes' retirement and $12,849.69 for state teachers' retirement for a new total of $46,126.63. The allotment to Miami Trace District was $77,577.80, minus deductions of $3,364 for school employes' retirement, $15,492.96 for state teachers' retirement and $4,396.75 as the allotment to the county board of education for a net total of $54,304.09. The allotment directly to the county board was $782.66.

Fire damages home

A short in an electrical outlet was blamed for a minor fire at the Levi Short home, 117 E. Ohio Ave. early Monday. The fire in the kitchen wall had burnt itself out when firemen arrived on the scene. Damage was set at $50.

Emergencies

Mark E. Holloway, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Holloway, Rt. 1, Bloomingburg, and Rhoda Rehkopf, 38, of Rt. 2, medical.

Ruth Ann McCullah, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold McCullah, Rt. 3, suspected bug in ear, none found.

More Watergate data indicated

Dean may tar Nixon aides

JOHN W. DEAN III

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House Counsel John W. Dean III, who has declared he will not be made a scapegoat for the Watergate affair, appears ready to implicate other presidential aides, says a source close to him.

In another development, The Washington Post quotes sources today as saying President Nixon was told by members of his own staff last year that former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and Dean probably were involved in both the wiretapping of Democratic party headquarters and a subsequent coverup.

Nixon, said the Post's sources, responded, "Give me some evidence."

Mitchell, former campaign director for Nixon, testified last week before a grand jury investigating Watergate. He told newsmen afterwards that he had heard discussion of wiretapping plans in the 1972 campaign but disapproved them.

Dean reportedly has been named by former Nixon campaign aide Jeb Stuart Magruder as among those present at a meeting where bugging of the Democratic headquarters was planned.

Dean, presidential counsel, conducted the initial investigation into the case, which was followed by Nixon's statement that no White House aides were involved. Nixon said April 7, however, that he had learned of major new developments pointing to the truth in the case.

"In a perhaps misguided concept in protecting the people around the President, he (Dean) has been caught up in questionable activities," a source close to Dean said Sunday.

The source said Dean's April 19 comment that he would not be made a scapegoat was "a clear indication that he is now going to help the President clear the White House staff of those that have besmirched the office of the presidency to the end that President Nixon will have better and purer advisers in the future."

There were several other developments over the weekend.

—Charles W. Colson, a former White House consultant, reiterated Sunday that he had no involvement in Watergate. He characterized as "just plain wrong" a story in the Los Angeles Times saying that Colson was prepared to document an administration coverup of Watergate. The Times stood by its story.

—Ridder Publications' Washington bureau quoted sources as saying Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst may resign after Watergate investigations are over because he has fallen out of favor with Nixon over his handling of the matter. He already has withdrawn from the case.

—Sen. Edward Brooke, RMass., said Sunday it is difficult to understand how persons working with the President would not have told Nixon about the Watergate bugging before it was done. "It is inconceivable to me that they would not have told the President about this matter," said Brooke on NBC's "Meet the Press."

FACE IS FAMILIAR, BUT — Postman George Bayliss and a canine observer by the name of "Mr. Chips" give each other a mutually respectful wide berth. Mr. Chips seemed to be having trouble recognizing Postman Bayliss in his new Postal Service regulation walking shorts. The encounter ended with each going his own way but making regular checks over the shoulder to check the other's progress. Scene is Dallas, Tex.

Little girl brutally slain

HILLSDALE, N.J. (AP) — The strangulation-beating death of a 7-year-old Brownie scout whose nude body was found in a park has shaken this residential community. A young teacher to whom she was to deliver two boxes of Girl Scout cookies has been charged with her death.

The body of Joan D'Allesandro was found by police Sunday, three days after she was reported missing. James McGowan, 26, who lived with his widowed mother about 100 yards down the street from the D'Allesandro home, was arrested and charged with the killing.

Rockland County Medical Examiner Fred Zugibe said there was evidence of sexual abuse. He said the girl apparently was slain elsewhere before her body was dumped in a wooded area of Harriman State Park at Stony Point, N.Y., some 15 miles north of here.

"We've been hysterical since the child was reported missing," said Mrs. Mary Lou Dumanovski, a neighbor of the slain girl and the teacher. "Every mother in the neighborhood now is yelling for her child every two minutes.

"This has always been a children's town, but forget it!" she exclaimed. "Now, none of my kids will leave the backyard without an adult in attendance."

"How could you believe that anything like this could happen here?" said Mrs. Ann Hoppe, another neighbor.

Less than two hours after the discovery of the girl's body, police arrested McGowan. He was arraigned and ordered jailed in lieu of $50,000 bail.

Shooting rampage leaves six dead

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The gunman pointed to his latest victim and asked a horrified service station attendant who witnessed the killing: Do you know if anyone wants some of that?"

An otherwise peaceful Easter Sunday in a predominantly black neighborhood was shattered by a man wielding a .20-gauge shotgun. The 90-minute shooting rampage left six perfons dead and ten wounded at eight locations, authorities said.

"He walked in and asked for Butch," recalled James Morrow, 35, a coworker of Raleigh "Butch" Henderson, a service station attendant who was gunned down. "Butch turned around and he just started shooting."

A preliminary investigation indicated the shooting may have been "a planned sequence — something he thought out, or at any rate did in a kind of order of priorities," said Sheriff's Lt. Charles Elliott.

"At any rate, we believe he knew all or most of the people he killed."

Officers shot and wounded William Ray Bonner, 25, an unemployed service station attendant, during a shootout that followed a chase by sheriff's deputies. Bonner was booked for investigation of murder, officers said. He was reported in satisfactory condition at a local hospital with gunshot wounds in the leg.

Persons killed in the afternoon shooting spree included Bonner's grandmother, girlfriend and a 12-year-old girl, sheriff's deputies said.

Most of the wounded were reported in critical condition.

At least one and possibly two of the wounded were hit by crossfire when officers surrounded the gunman at an intersection and exchanged some 40 shots before wounding him and taking him into custody, authorities said.

The cause of the shootings was under investigation.

The shooting rampage started at Bonner's home, where a female visitor was fatally shot and two teen-agers were wounded. It then spread through the surrounding neighborhood. The gunman made quick visits to two gas stations, two liquor stores and two other homes—all within a one-square mile area — leaving dead and wounded as he went, deputies said.

High Court eyes integration busing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today hears arguments for the first time on whether federal judges may order busing across school-district boundaries in pursuit of desegregation.

The immediate issue is a district-court order for consolidation of the mostly black schools of Richmond, Va., with the predominantly white school districts in neighboring Henrico and Chesterfield counties.

That order was issued in January 1972 by U.S. District Court Judge Robert H. Merhige Jr. and would have required busing of about 78,000 pupils across city and county lines.

In a 5-1 decision last June, the 4th Circuit Court of Appeals reversed that order. The appellate court took issue with Merhige's position that state and local officials had maintained a segregated school system in Richmond, and held that judges lack authority to cross school-district lines in desegregation orders.

The Richmond School Board had argued that pupils were moved across boundary lines to perpetuate segregation and that those lines should be crossed for desegregation.

Arguing with the school board to have the appellate ruling nullified and Merhige's order restored is the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund. The Virginia State Board of Education and the Nixon administration support the circuitcourt ruling.

Similar lawsuits affecting metropolitan-area schools are pending in Detroit and Grand Rapids, Mich.; Dayton, Ohio; Durham, N.C.; Wilmington, Del.; Hartford, Conn.; Buffalo; Atlanta; Boston; Indianapolis, and Louisville.

The Supreme Court was told in briefs that during the 1970-71 school year, about 9,000 lack pupils in Richmond were attending 13 schools ghat were at least 90 per cent black, while there were four allpwhite schools. Chesterfield and Henrico schools were completely segregated until the mid-1960s.

Real estate probe brings suspension

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Commerce Director Dennis Shaul today suspended state employe J. David Maffeo pending further investigation of real estate license exams he gave his wife, father, and a former governors office employe.

Shaul, at a news conference, said the maximum suspension without pay is five days. "We hoped to have this cleared up within a couple of days," Shaul said.

Shaul said he planned to name a professional group composed of realtors, attorneys, and businessmen to study the process of licensing over the past five years.

He said he would ask the group to jerk from the files any license exams that appeared questionable. He said there would continue to be personnel changes within the Ohio Real Estate Commission until the problems were corrected.

Shaul said Maffeo admitted giving the state license test to his wife, Betty, and father, Joseph.

He said he gave the test to Samuel T. Britton of Cincinnati, former minority affairs coordinator for the Governor, at the request of Vernon B. McMillen, former commission secretary, fired recently by Shaul.

McMillen was dismissed as Shaul delved into controversy surrounding how former Gov. James A. Rhodes and several of his aides obtained real estate brokers or real estate salesmen licenses without going through normal testing procedures.

Shaul said Maffeo, assistant secretary of the commission, bore the responsibility for testing his wife and father. The father is the Democratic co-chairman in Harrison county.

"I don't have any proof or suspicions these tests have anything wrong with them," Shaul said.

Assistant Highway Patrol chief retires

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Lt. Col. Clifford E. Reich, assistant superintendent of the Ohio Patrol, will retire May 1 to become director of research and development for the Ohio Automobile Club.

Reich joined the patrol in 1942 and has served as assistant superintendent since 1965.

Rains drown farms; fertilizers scarce

Fayette County farmers are experiencing a shortage of fertilizer to further complicate the planting season, already hampered extensively by continued rainfall.

Officials of both the Landmark and Agrico fertilizer plants here concur that the demand for phosphorus is great and the chemical is increasingly difficult to obtain. Spokesmen from both firms said nitrogen is more plentiful locally.

The rains also continue to plague county farmers. Coyt A. Stookey, official weather observer, said 0.93 inch fell during the 48-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today.

An emergency session of Ohio's Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation is to be held today over the fertilizer shortage and impending wheat transportation crisis, according to Dan Tucker of the Ohio Crop Reporting Service.

The fertilizer shortage, transportation problems and soggy fields continue to hamper Ohio farmers' efforts to plant major corn and soybean crops and prepare for the summer what harvest.

Tucker, statistician with the reporting service, said that plowing, which is normally over half completed by this time, remains only 25 per cent finished.

He said the problem results from excessive rainfall last autumn and winter, as well as this year's rain.

The rain late last year also resulted in millions of dollars of crop losses as farmers were unable to enter waterlogged fields to harvest fall crops.

Soil conditions have also slowed or halted the planting of oats, potatoes, sugar beets, and tobacco, Tucker noted.

He said farmers have until about mid-May to plant corn, and slightly longer for soybeans.

In addition to that problem, farmers have been experiencing difficulty in getting phosphorus and nitrogen fertilizer compounds. Suppliers say the shortage is due to foreign sales of the chemicals and the scarcity of railroad cars.

Tucker said that his committee is concerned that a continued scarcity of railroad hopper cars will delay movement of wheat, due to be harvested about in early July.

He said his understanding is that huge grain sales to Russia and China have tied up the cars at ports not along the normal shipping routes.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has been asked to order cars hauling export grains to Gulf ports to be routed by Florida phosphate deposits on return trips to northern sections, according to the statistician.

New series of storms hit flooded Mississippi Valley

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The rain-soaked lower Mississippi Valley took the brunt of a new series of thunderstorms and heavy rains early today following a weekend of tornadoes, rain and flooding throughout the nation's midsection.

In contrast, the Easter weekend on both coasts was pleasant. More than 500,000 persons swarmed to the beaches in Los Angeles County as temperatures touched 85, and 80 degree readings were common in the East.

Thunderstorms spread from eastern Oklahoma to the Ohio Valley with 1.8 inches of rain accumulated during the night at Little Rock, Ark., and 2.1 inches at Springfield, Mo.

The Mississippi River at Burlington, Iowa, St. Louis, Mo., and Cairo, Ill., was expected to crest at possible record levels during the coming week.

Three tornadoes were reported Sunday night near Little Rock, Ark. A flash flood watch was issued for much of Arkansas. Hundreds of campers were chased from a folk festival at Ozark Mountain Forest by a flood early Sunday.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers said Morgan City, La., will have to wait four to six weeks for the waters of the Atchafalaya River to subside.

Flooding in northern Illinois along the Fox and Rock Rivers caused hundreds of persons to flee their homes Saturday.

Steven Hill winner of Armco scholarship

Steven L. Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andy L. Hill, 1318 Nelson Place, has been named a recipient of an Armco Steel Corp. scholarship, E. C. Vollette, manager of the company's Washington C. H. plant, announced today.

Hill was among 22 young people selected by the Educational Testing Service from more than 295 applicants for the company's scholarships.

A senior at Washington Senior High School, he is a member of the Letterman's Club, National Honor Society member, and active in Student Council.

Hill's father is a crane operator at the plant here.

All sons and daughters of Armco employes throughout the country and overseas are eligible for the company scholarships. Their value will range up to $1,250 annually, based on financial need, Vollette said. Individual amounts are not made public.

President of the youth group at the South Side Church of Christ where he is a member of the choir and Bible Bowl team, young Hill attended Buckeye Boys' State last year and was an American Legion Americanism Contest county and district winner as a junior.

As a ninth grader, he was a patriotic essay winner and received the John F. Kennedy scholarship award for maintaining a scholastic average of 4.0. While in the 11th grade he won honorable mention in the Ohio Scholarship Contest.

As a National Society member in both Junior and Senior high schools, he has been vice president of the senior chapter for two years. His other activities include the Hi-Y Club, Student Council, head student trainer for football and membership in the student chapter of American Field Service.

He attended the Ohio YMCA Youth and Government program as a state representative last year and will attend again this spring.

Naval base closing shocks city

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — A banker expresses optimism for the future. But grocers, gas station owners, shopkeepers and others who relied on Navy business are gloomily awaiting the worst.

Newport, the fabled playground of millionaires and socialites, has been rocked by a Pentagon order that will wipe out nearly 14,000 military and civilian jobs at the Newport Naval Base.

Though other military installations in the area will remain in use, the transfer south of men and ships from the Newport base will mean the loss of an annual payroll of $116 million. That is half the total wages of Newport and the two other communities on the 44-square-mile island, Middletown and Portsmouth.

The cutback is scheduled to be completed by July 30, 1974. Navy schools and laboratories at Newport will not shut down, leaving several thousand men at the base.

As news about the cutback sinks in, anger and anxiety replace the initial wave of disbelief.

"I'm so mad," says Mrs. Morton Socks, whose husband says he will have to close one of his two men's shops that cater to the military. "There is no cut in defense spending, they're just shifting everything elsewhere."

Harold and Peter Petropoulof, owners of a camera store, say they expected cutbacks as the war wound down "but they hit us with a home run rather than a double. This is the Pearl Harbor of Newport."

The sales manager of a large real estate firm says that, since the cutback announcement a week ago today, "it's just a story of one cancellation after another. The market has gone absolutely stone deaf. There's no phone calls for sales."

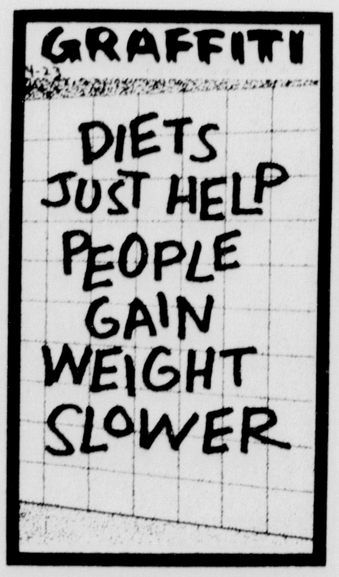

In nearby Middletown — where a string of gas stations, car washes, hamburger joints and two shopping centers have grown up outside the Navy's gates — a clerk for a dry cleaner says, "We're going to suffer. We probably won't be here next year."

The future looks equally bleak to furniture store owners and used-car dealers, who do up to 80 per cent of their business with the Navy.

A developer already has cancelled plans to build a new $10 million shopping center near one of the base's gates.

William A. Perry, president of the Newport National Bank, says marginal businesses probably will go under and Newport will become a bedroom community to industrial areas.

"It's going to depress it for a while, but it's going to bounce back," he says emphatically. "If you have a labor force available, industry ill come in.

El Paso blast fatal to 7

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — "I heard a girl scream, 'Help me!' I went running to this first apartment. We started digging those people out of this wreckage, all this mess."

Edna Williams was describing the scene immediately after a natural gas explosion early Easter Sunday killed seven persons and leveled much of an apartment complex about half a mile east of the downtown section.

She said she was in her home across the street reading the Bible when the blast occurred about 6:30 a.m.

Eight persons were hospitalized today after the low, rumbling blast turned seven of the brick veneer apartments in the L-shaped complex into a pile of concrete and brick debris five feet deep.

The firemen blamed the explosion on leaking natural gas, saying the leak occurred where street repairs had been made. They said gas was spewing through the street as far as 100 feet from the apartments.

Distemper too much for 'Dumpy'

SALEM, Ohio (AP)—Dumpy the dog is dead.

The 3-year-old beagle mix mongrel which survived being gassed and shot was put to sleep Saturday by a Salem veterinarian.

Joyce Guiler, one of two Salem women who rescued the dog in March after it had been abandoned for dead at a landfill near here, had Dumpy put to sleep after the veterinarian told her further amputation would be necessary.

Parts of the dog's hind legs had been amputated because of the effects of a bout with distemper when he was a pup.

Dumpy will be buried at Woodside Pet Memorial Park cemetery in Navarre at 4 p.m. next Saturday. Graveside visiting hours will be observed from 2 to 4 p.m.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

A slow-moving cold front moved south across Ohio Sunday, bringing light showers and a few thundershowers.

The front was located across the Ohio Valley this morning and was forecast to continue moving very slowly southward or remain almost stationary today. Showers were forecast to continue, especially in southern counties, in connection with the front.

Afternoon highs were expected to range from the 50s to 70s under cloudy skies. Temperatures tonight will drop to the 40s under cloudy to partly cloudy skies.

Cloudy skies will cover the entire state Tuesday, and afternoon highs will be in the 50s and 60s, about normal for this time of year.

Showers and a few thundershowers were reported across Ohio Sunday night and this morning, although rainfall amounts were light.

Temperatures remained mild under cloudy skies, with readings at dawn in the 50s and 60s.

Chance of showers Wednesday and Friday. Highs in 60s, lows in the 40s.

Searchers unable to locate boater

A scaled-down search is still being conducted at Deer Creek Reservoir for the body of Darrell Wheeler, 20, of Stoutsville.

Pickaway County Sheriff's deputies said the search was continued over the weekend despite the opening of the lake to the public.

Wheeler drowned April 8 when his boat capsized. Three other persons in the boat were rescued. Search operations conducted daily since the drowning have failed to locate the body.

The making of sausages dates back to at least 1500 B.C.

Stock list eases off

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices settled lower today after two straight sessions of modest advances.

Analysts said positive and negative influences on the market appeared to be in close balance. On the favorable side was a long list of bright first-quarter corporate earnings reports; on the unfavorable side, signs of continuing strong inflation.

The government reported Friday that consumer prices surged at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 9.6 per cent in March, equalling February's pace.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was off close to a point, but only a very thin edge over those advancing on the New York Stock Exchange.

Big Board prices included Gulf Oil, unchanged at 25⅝; Raymond International up ⅛ AT &¼; Levitz Furniture, ahead ⅜ at 11¾; Westinghouse Electric, off ⅛ at 34⅞, and Lykes Youngstown, unchanged at 11.

Newsman loses hearing appeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Baltimore reporter, faced with jail for refusing to answer a grand jury's questions about a news source, today lost his bid for a hearing before the Supreme Court.

David M. Lightman appealed his potentially indefinite contempt sentence to the high court with the contention that the grand jury probe was motivated by a desire to harass his newspaper, the Baltimore Evening Sun, for publishing articles implicitly critical of law enforcement in Ocean City, Md.

Cherry Hill PTA re-elects officers

Officers were re-elected and awards were presented to Science Fair winners at the Cherry Hill Parent-Teacher Association meeting last week.

The PTA also voted to pay the expenses of a trip to King's Island amusement park near Cincinnati for members of the school safety patrol and approved a contribution of $10 to the special education class at the Rose Avenue School which is attended by several Cherry Hill pupils.

John Rich will continue as president; Roger Mesecher as vice president; Mrs. James Eakins as secretary, and Mrs. James Kiger as treasurer.

Science Fair awards were presented by Mrs. Leonard Watts, the principal, too:

Fourth grade — 1st Harvey Morgan; 2nd Shelly Copeland; 3rd Amy Boyer; 4th Gale Eakins;

Fifth grade — 1st J. R. Wilson, 2nd Kari Ream, 3rd Wendell Graham, Scott Baird and Glenna Scott and 4th Barry Cupp, Doug Morrison and Andy Huysman;

Sixth grade — 1st Jeff Patton, 2nd Scott Baker, 3rd Mike Harlan and Betty Caudill and 4th Kelly Graham and Greg Earp.

The attendance banner went to Mrs. Charles Shaper's fifth grade with 16 parents present. The annual spring roundup was scheduled for May 5 and a family-style potluck supper has been set for May 22.

Ohio River among federal targets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Up to 10 heavily-polluted river basins may be in line for federal demonstration projects aimed at controlling wastes from farms, construction sites and city streets to help meet a congressional goal of river fit to swim in by 1983.

A spokesman for the Environmental Protection Agency said possible locations for the projects include the Potomac, Delaware, Ohio, Missouri and Colorado rivers, and parts of lower Florida. But details of the projects have not been worked out.

EPA said the results of these projects would be applied eventually to other river basins throughout the nation.

To meet the goal of rivers fit to swim in, pollution must be controlled from both "point sources," such as factories and sewage plants, and "nonpoint sources" which have no concentrated discharge outlets, such as farms, construction sites and city streets.

To control the "point sources" of pollution, EPA has pledged to issue discharge restrictions by the end of 1974 to more than 56,000 waste dischargers.

But the agency is frankly stymied, so far, by the nonpoint sources.

Rain water running into river and lakes carries pesticides and fertilizers from farmland, silt from bulldozed construction sites, and all sorts of impurities from city streets.

EPA says it is not sure what must be done to prevent this pollution and is conducting the demonstration projects in an attempt to find a solutinn.

Meanwhile, said EPA, each state must, over the next two years, "develop a profile of its particular nonpoint source problems, and prepare an assessment of what it feels to be the most effective ... available prevention and control..." In the same period, the agency said, EPA will be primarily responsible for research on the generation and effects by type of nonpoint source pollutants, and for development of additional prevention and control techniques.

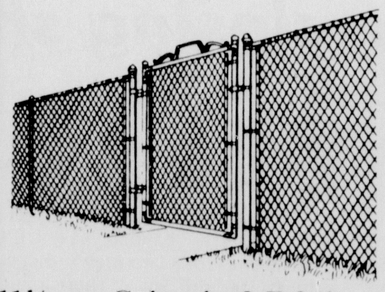

EPA said these efforts should lead to development within three years of statenand local plans to control nonpoint sources of pollution.

Nab gunman after chase of 400 miles

MERCED, Calif. (AP) — A gunman has been captured by police at the end of a 400-mile spree of six abductions, two rapes and two fatal shootings, authorities say.

The events began with the kidnap-rape of a 19-year-old woman in South Lake Tahoe on Friday and ended Sunday when police shot and wounded John P. Bunyard, 27, of San Francisco on the outskirts of Merced, authorities said.

Bunyard was reported in fair condition Sunday with gunshot wounds in his arms and abdomen.

During the search for the man, six cars were commandeered, two policemen disarmed and several fired at.

The Merced County sheriff's office said Bunyard was booked for investigation of murder in the shooting of two elderly women whose bodies were found in motel rooms in Mariposa, 30 miles northeast of here.

Sheriff Norm Garrett of neighboring Mariposa County said: "He will be charged with murder, kidnaping, armed robbery and possibly with other felony charges."

In San Francisco, police said Bunyard was positively "linked" with a series of attacks on women in the Nob Hill area in recent months, including the multiple stabbing of a Japanese student.

New gas eruptions plague Michigan town

WILLIAMSBURG, Mich. (AP) — Natural gas eruptions which have plagued this tiny northwestern Michigan community since last week continued to spread today, forcing 10 more families to evacuate their homes.

The new eruptions of the potentially explosive gas were discovered near the town of Acme, about four miles southwest of the original field of geysers. Authorities said gas concentrations in the area were high.

Sandbagging operations were set to begin later today at Acme Creek, just below the site of the most recent eruptions.

Silt from the creek has been flowing into Grand Traverse Bay, muddying the water, and officials say they fear the gas, which has been bubbling up from the ground since Wednesday, may spread 10 miles underground to endanger Traverse City, a town of 18,000. The silt could travel into the bay, harming aquatic life.

Sheriff Richard Weiler said workmen would put snow fences across Acme Creek and devise a filter of hay on the fence to trap silt particles.

Me said artificial settling basins would be created below the eruptions to trap the silt pouring out of the blowholes before it could get to Grand Traverse Bay.

Officials said Sunday more gas and less water is coming from the blowholes. That may be a sign gas is venting fast enough to prevent it from spreading, they said.

Authorities said they were hampered in their efforts Sunday by sightseers. The crowds of curious people caused many problems, officials said, stopping on Michigan 72 and trudging across fields to see the eruptions.

Geologists have been unable to say how fast the gas is traveling underground. But geologist Stanley Dyer said the slope of the underlying rock in the area points the escaping gas toward the bay.

Bill Mullendore, a state biologist, said there has been "no damage to wildlife and no damage to underwater life either."

Phones and electrical service were shut off Sunday from the area in which gas concentration is the heaviest as a precaution against explosions. Cars also were banned.

Gov. William G. Milliken, from his home 10 miles away in Traverse City, announced Sunday that he was making extra fire-fighting equipment available from state supplies.

Meanwhile, several county officials have announced their intention to file suit against Amoco Production Co., the drilling subsidiary of Standard Oil of Indiana, whose well four miles south of Williamsburg has been blamed for the eruptions. Amoco has denied that its well is the culprit.

"All geological strata has been tested at the company's well," said R.B. Lafever, Amoco district superintendent, "and no gas was evident."

Canada's first settlers relied on wildlife — deer, fish, fowl, buffalo and rabbits — and their meat needs.

Wild scheme to free Hess bared by German activist

BERLIN (AP) — Approaching his 79th birthday, Rudolph Hess, Hitler' onetime confidant and deputy, was back in the headlines today with a report of a hijack plot to free him from Berlin's Spandau Prison.

A 29-year-old German activist told over the weekend of a scheme to hijack a British airliner to Moscow in an attempt to force the Soviets to agree to the Nazi leader's release, authorities said.

West German officials said Carl Holzapfel, who has been active in protests against the Berlin Wall, told them he and nine other persons were planning to take over a British European Airways jet during a flight from Stuttgart to Berlin.

In a letter to the newspaper Bild am Sontag, Holzapfel said he changed his mind about the scheme when he learned his accomplices planned to use dynamite as a threat and innocent persons might get hurt.

Hess, Hitler's onetime deputy, will be 79 on Thursday and has been imprisoned for 32 years — from 1941 to 1946 in Britain and in Spandau since his conviction at Nuernberg. He is known to be in poor health, with a heart murmur, a once ruptured ulcer, prostate problems and failing faculties.

His once thick black hair is gray and sparse, he is stooped, and his teeth are false, but the eyebrows above his sunken eyes are still heavy and dark.

Except for a four-month period at the nearby British Military Hospital for treatment of his ulcer, Hess has been in virtual solitary confinement since 1966 when the last of the other six top Nazis jailed with him completed their 20-year terms.

Hess was found guilty at Nuernberg of plotting and carrying out aggressive war and sentenced to life in prison but was not convicted of any war crimes.

The Russians contended that he should have been hanged and have rejected the pleas of the British, endorsed by the Americans and the French, to set the old man free on humanitarian grounds.

Polar bears in Canada are found mainly in the Hudson Bay and James Bay areas.

London points the way

The smoky, foggy old city of London has come, surprisingly, to stand for what can be done about pollution. Perhaps this is because conditions in London were so bad that improvement is bound to be dramatic. Whatever the reason, the great city on the Thames does exemplify progress in cleaning up the environment.

This has been freshly pointed out by Environment Minister Geoffrey Ripon. As he notes, pollution control efforts were undertaken some years ago and are beginning to pay off handsomely.

London used to be known for its smoggy winter atmosphere, into which sunlight penetrated only sparingly if at all. Now, says Ripon, the city is getting 50 per cent more winter sunshine than it got 20 years ago.

The foul state of London's storied Thames river has not escaped attention, either. In some stretches of the Thames there were hardly any fish 15 years ago. Today, 50 species are found in such parts of the river.

These gains have not been achieved by happenstance. They are clearly the result of strong anti-pollution laws which provide tough penalties for violations. Under the goad of these laws, industry has spent the equivalent of a billion dollars on air pollution control alone over the past decade. That is why London receives half again as much welcome winter sunlight as it used to.

And that, in turn, is why the government plans even more stringent anti-pollution laws and tougher penalties. There is popular support for that, because it has become evident that insistence on pollution control works.

We still need farm surpluses

Farmers, says Lane Palmer, the editor of Farm Journal, are more worried about "next year's" low food prices than they are about the meat-eating public's reaction to the prices now being charged in the butcher shops.

Expounding his fears at a hearing of the Senate Banking Subcommittee on Production and Stabilization, Mr. Palmer said that farmers could not look with equanimity on "the government's over-reaction to consumer demands."

He reminded the senators that over and over again the U.S. farmer, and the consumer, too, had experienced far greater tragedy from a stimulated overproduction than from "any temporary shortage such as we are now experiencing."

The Department of Agriculture officials have, in Mr. Palmer's opinion, already released too many acres for crop production this year. The embattled editor told the senators that farmers shuddered when consumer spokesmen argued that the days of U.S. farm surpluses are over, or that crop failures in India, Russia and China were bound to recur, or that the Soviets would consummate future deals for grain on the 1972 scale, or that corn blights like 1971's could be counted on to raise the price of hogs. Going back to the days of the Eisenhower Administration, Mr. Palmer noted that when corn plantings were boosted by almost ten million acres in 1959, the result was $1-a-bushel corn in 1960.

MR. PALMER obviously knows his history. The big question, however, iswhether the farmers for whom he speaks have taken the measure of changes in the U.S. economy that are tending to make agricultural surpluses just about the only big exportable item that we have. We have lost the overseas electronics markets to Japanese companies such as Sony; we no longer make typewriters to compete with Olivetti; our Hollywood movies are too costly for foreign consumption; our cars can't compete against the Volkswagen or the Toyota; our textiles can't contest even the local markets against imported dresses and shirts; and so it goes.

Boeing is still able to sell 707 planes to the Red Chinese and 747s to the German Lufthansa and Onassis's Olympic Airways. But, significantly, Boeing is now making provision to build short take-off planes in Italy and is contemplating a manufacturing operation inside Japan.

We still sell big computers, but a Japanese minicomputer is capturing the domestic U.S. market, which portends something ominous for IBM's bigger stuff somewhere down the line. Meanwhile, the Persian Gulf oil sheikdoms are just about to corner the world's oil markets, including those of the Eastern U.S.

If it weren't for our agricultural exports, including tree-farmed logs, our balance of payments prospects would be truly appalling. Fortunately the U.S. has unused land that can be used to produce an annual exportable food surplus over our domestic needs.

It could be that abundant rainfall in India, and good growing weather in Russia and China, might cause overproduction in the U.S. in any given year. But Mr. Palmer and the farmers for whom he speaks lack the courage of the free-enterprise philosophy which they still nominally accept.

The point is that countries which depend on collectivized agriculture are bound to experience shortages in two out of three growing seasons even when nature smiles. Regimented peasants just don't produce, and even when sun and rain bring crops to fruition without transcendent human effort the grain is left to rot in the fields because of bungled transport and storage arrangements.

THE LATEST REPORTS from the professional China watchers in Hongkong is that food production on the Red Chinese mainland is going to drop by another 4 per cent this year. Chou En-lai has already admitted to reporters that last year's 4 per cent drop was bad enough. Despite the order that went out from Peking to increase production for 1973, the Chinese peasants have been unable to cope with droughts all over north, northeast, and northwest China.

There was practically no rain or snow in Hopei Province this past winter. In Central and South China icy rains have killed rice and wheat seedlings.

This sort of thing means that the American farmer can't plant too much in 1973. Mr. Palmer and his farm clientele can stop worrying for the immediate future. Even though West Europe and Japan don't need our industrial output, the Communist part of the world will continue to beg us for our surplus food.

Is TV News for real?

In "News from Nowhere" (Random House), Edward Jay Epstein poses the question "Is television network news truly a "mirror of reality'?"

Epstein did an interesting but flawed study of the Warren Commission's report on the assassination of President Kennedy, and subsequently, for The New Yorker, a superb analysis of the myth of the police campaign to murder the Black Panthers. He has now turned his attention to the charges that television network news has consistently shown a liberal bias, and to the reply that the news programs simply mirror reality.

His book is going to disappoint partisans of both viewpoints. After a painstaking investigation of the inner operations of the network news shows, Epstein emerges with two major conclusions. First, that network news is not a mirror of reality, that much of it is semi-fiction — a new dramatic art-form. A documentary on hunger in America, for example, comes on with a child dying on the screen. The viewer; automatic assumption is that the child died of hunger, though in fact the baby in the film did not. This is justified by the producers on the ground that other babies undoubtedly have died of hunger, but at the moment of filming, one was not available.

SIMILARLY a five-hour protest at Columbus University, which in cold terms was a complete fizzle, could be converted into three or four minutes of howling action by the boys in the cutting room. Obviously Walter Cronkite or any of the other network anchormen can not go on the air with three or four minutes of nothing happening at Columbia — even though that would have mirrored reality.

In a different context, news is where the cameras are. Here the contrast in the coverage of the Democratic and Republican 1968 nominating conventions is a case inpoint: although in Chicago no one was killed, the Frenzy took place on camera. In Miami Beach, on the other hand, where the riots and deaths, no TV trucks were on hand to convert it into "news."

Epstein's second conclusion will disappoint Vice President Agnew, Clay Whitehead and other critics of TV's alleged "liberal bias." He makes a persuasive case that the only bias the networks have is one in favor of making money, and backs it up with a fascinating exploration of the logistics of network news production.

"News" turns out basically to be what happens in five cities that are tied into the big cable. It costs a fortune to go out into the hinterland; California and the West Coast create time problems, so the nets end up with an essentially East Coast orientation. (Nothing short of another San Francisco earthquake that occurs on the West Coast after noon E.S.T. is going to make it into the 6 o'clock shows.)

BECAUSE of cost problems, Epstein writes, it is "economically more efficient to consign news of small town America and remote cities to such timeless features as the CBS series 'On the Road with Charles Kuralt' . . . the fundamental economic structure compels producers to select a large share of their film stories from a few locations." Later he observes pessimistically that as long as these "requisites remain essentially the same, network news can be expected to define American society by the problems of a few urban areas rather than the entire nation, by action rather than ideas, by dramatic protests rather than substantive contradictions . . . by a typical rather than typical views."

This conclusion will leave many critics dissatisifed, and I confess that I wish Epstein had confronted in a serious way Edith Efron's charge of bias in coverage of the 1968 campaign. Epstein virtually eliminates the human, subjective factor, but I recall some trick camera shots of Hubert Humphrey looking like the village idiot and — without getting manic — I am not convinced it was accidental.

But with the caveat, I strongly recommend Epstein's book if only for documenting the point that network news is primarily a business, not a journalistic, enterprise.

"LET'S TAKE ANOTHER LOOK AT THAT RULE BOOK."

Hal Boyle . . . Hal delves into his mailbag

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Has your income doubled in the last 10 years? Well, your federal taxes have.

According to the Tax Foundation, federal taxes for the 1974 fiscal year, which starts July 1, will average $1,179 for every American, more than double the $582 they were a decade ago.

It was hard to tell what time it was in 1880. Although Daylight Saving Time had not then been heralded, there were 50 different standard times in use in the United States.

Do you have any idea where the following common everyday phrases came from? "Thanks for nothing...To give the devil his due...A peck of trouble...Every dog has his day...A finger in every pie...Let the worst come to the worst...A wild goose chase..."

Well, every one of them came from a single book, "Don Quixote," written more than 350 years ago by Miguel de Cervantes.

Christopher Latham Sholes, who in 1873 invented the first successful typewriter, also composed the sentence that has been connected with it ever since: "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party." Sholes, who sold his valuable patent for only $12,000, later commented wryly: "All my life I have been trying to escape being a millionaire, and at last I think I have succeeded."

Quotable notables: "I hate mankind for I think myself one of the best of them, and I know how bad I am." — Samuel Johnson.

Nature notes: Many people think snakes are slimy; actually their skins are clean and quite dry. Wasps have a better sense of smell than you do and use it to hunt food. Although the wild turkey usually prefers to escape its enemies by running through cover, it can fly quite well. If your child had an appetite like a mole, he could eat his bodyweight in food once a day.

Know your language: Do you know why that little platform on the mast of a ship is called the crow's nest? Because the ancient Vikings actually kept crows in a container on such a platform. When the ship became lost, they would release a bird and follow it toward land. American whaling ships in the last century perched a member of the crew in a barrel fixed to the headmast to act as a lookout.

Worth remembering: "Be not disturbed at being misunderstood; be disturbed at not understanding."

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Let him eat cake and you'll get the crumbs

DEAR ABBY: Like so many others, I can't believe I'm actually writing a Dear Abby letter. My husband is having an affair with an 18-year-old girl. (He's 37.)

I found out about it three months ago. He promised to stop, but now he says she's pregnant and he feels an obligation to her. (What about his obligation to ME? We have four children, 5 to 14 years old.)

He spends every weekend with her and comes home to me during the week. He says if I don't like it, he'll stay with her during the week, too. Abby, I love him and don't want to lose him, yet I can't live like this.

He says he doesn't want a divorce or a separation. He just wants to go on like he is. How can I save our marriage?

CONCEAL MY IDENTITY

DEAR CONCEAL: You can't save your marriage without your husband's cooperation. He should see a lawyer about his legal obligation to the girl, then make a choice between you and her. If you let him continue to have his cake and eat it, too, you will wind up with crumbs.

DEAR ABBY: Concerning the brides who are always being criticized because they are late getting out their thank-you notes for their wedding gifts: My niece was married in September, and I did not receive a thank-you note for my wedding gift until mid-January. The reason: She had colored pictures made of herself and the groom and they wanted to enclose a picture with each thank-you. She didn't get her proofs from the photographers until December, and the pictures weren't finished until January.

I think this was a lovely gesture which more than compensates for the late thank you.

UNDERSTANDING AUNT

DEAR AUNT: You were more understanding than most people would have been. I agree, it was a lovely gesture, but four months is about two months too long to wait for an acknowledgement.

DEAR ABBY: My husband uses a very clever gimmick to get acquainted with young women whenever we are on a vacation. He always carries a couple of cameras to make himself look like a real expert photographer, and when he sees a pretty girl, he compliments her on her figure, or face, or hair, and asks her if she would mind posing for a few pictures. This never fails. Then he offers to buy her a drink or lunch or something so he can get better acquainted with her. (Of course he takes her name and address so he can send her the pictures later.)

Sometimes he doesn't even have any film in his camera. He's 45 years old and acts like a teen-ager. Would I be within my rights to introduce myself to some of these bathing beauties and spoil his fun?

SHUTTERBUG'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Certainly. But be sure you catch him before he "clicks."

DEAR ABBY: In reference to non-Catholic attending Catholic services. I recommend that you warn them that we genuflect (kneel) before entering the pew. The first time I took my Methodist husband to church we nearly played leapfrog!

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, April 23, the 113th day of 1973. There are 252 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1838, the first regular transatlantic steamship service began as the Sirius and Great Western arrived in New York from England.

On this date:

In 1564, William Shakespeare was born at Stratford-on-Avon in England.

In 1789, President-elect and Mrs. George Washington moved into the first presidential mansion. It was at the corner of Cherry and Franklin Streets in New York.

In 1792, the French national anthem, "La Marseillaise," was written.

In 1904, the United States acquired the property of the French Panama Canal Co.

In 1941, during World War II, King George II of Greece fled to the island of Crete after German troops had broken through the Thermopolae Pass.

In 1949, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois vetoed a bill requiring that cats in the state be kept home. He said it is the nature of cats to roam a bit.

Ten years ago: The Christian Democratic party in West Germany nominated Ludwig Erhard to succeed Chancellor Konrad Adenauer as party leader.

Five years ago: A student protest that grew into a major upheaval began at Columbia University in New York.

One year ago: Two Apollo 16 astronauts blasted off from the and rejoined the command ship for the journey back to earth.

Today's birthdays: Shirley Temple Black is 45. Gen. Lucius D. Clay is 76.

Thought for Today: Critics are the men who have failed in literature and art — Benjamin Disraeli, British prime minister, 1804-1881.

Most observers agree that during the next 10 years or so, American cities will see increasing electrical brownouts. These are voltage reductions that cause electric motors to labor and burn out, TV pictures to shrink and lights to dim.

Women's spring golf banquet at Country Club attracts 60

The Washington C. H. Women's Golf Association held its annual spring dinner Wednesday evening at the Country Club with 60 members, Tony Capuana, club golf pro, and guest, Mrs. Nancy Ward, present.

The tables were centered with Easter egg trees made by Mrs. Harry Thrailkill.

Mrs. Otis Hess, general chairman conducted the meeting and welcomed the prospective members, Mrs. Dan Montgomery, Mrs. Lucille Stevenson, Mrs. Rachel Marti, Mrs. James Polson, Mrs. Everett Rudolph, Mrs. Janette Simpson, Mrs. Dottie Heckaman, and Mrs. Chester Brown.

Capuana explained the scheduled events which are planned for the coming ladies day and rules which are outlined in the ladies golf booklet.

Each year a pro-amateur benefit event is held in Columbus. Two lady golfers will represent the organization as scorekeepers. This year they are Mrs. Parker Hitzfield and Mrs. Eugene Heath. Mrs. Paul Johnson and Mrs. Paul Thornhill were selected as alternates.

Members will play golf weekly starting at 9:30 a.m. with a luncheon at 12:30 p.m. The committee will be Mrs. Harry Thrailkill, Mrs. Marsha Cook, Mrs. James Grinstead and Mrs. Allen Willoughby.

Members attending were Mrs. Ned Abbott, Mrs. John Aills, Mrs. Donald Anderson, Mrs. Ralph Bray, Mrs. A. R. Bryant, Mrs. James Conley, Mrs. Ronald Cornwell, Mrs. Paul Cummings, Miss Kathleen Davis, Mrs. Milbourne Flee, Mrs. Ray French, Mrs. Charles Griffiths, Mrs. James Grinstead, Mrs. Eugene Heath, Mrs. Robert Heiny, Mrs. William Hendren, Mrs. Otis Hess, Mrs. William Himmselspach, Mrs. Parker Hitzfield, Mrs. Ralph Hyer, Mrs. Richard Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Lary Lehman, Mrs. Bart Mahoney, Mrs. Harold Mason, Mrs. Wilson Moon, Mrs. Dan Montgomery, Mrs. Roger Miller, Mrs. Donald Moore, Mrs. Loren Noble, Mrs. Walter Oswald, Mrs. Homer Ralston, Mrs. Birch Rice, Miss Latricia Robinson, Mrs. William Robinson, Mrs. Robert Sanderson, Mrs. Charles Schneider, Mrs. Byers Shaw, Mrs. Jerry Sheppard, Mrs. George Spilker, Mrs. Charles Stevenson, Mrs. Ralph Thompson, Mrs. Marvin Thornburg, Mrs. Paul Thornhill, Mrs. James Vess, Mrs. Dale Wade, Mrs. George Walker, Mrs. William Wead, Mrs. Allen Willoughby, Mrs. Richard Wintringham, Mrs. Jack Marti, Mrs. James Kirk, Mrs. Robert Link, Mrs. James Polson, Mrs. Everett Rudolph, Mrs. Janette Simpson, Mrs. John Arbogast, Mrs. Dottie Heckaman, Mrs. Chester Brown, Mrs. Nancy Ward, Mrs. Jack Kellough, and Club Pro Tony Capuana.

Mrs. Dellinger guest of honor

Mrs. Laura Dellinger, 132 W. Oak St., who observed her 93rd birthday Thursday, was honor guest at a dinner at Duff's Restaurant in Wilmington.

Dinner guests with Mrs. Dellinger were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dellinger and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dellinger, of Washington C. H.

During the afternoon and evening, she received several visitors who extended greetings. She also received several cards, gifts and flowers from friends and her family.

Mrs. Sauer, Mr. Wood wed

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Parrett Wood are now residing at 554 Mayfair Dr., following their recent marriage. Mrs. Wood, the former Mrs. Mack Sauer formerly resided at 488 Kathryn Dr., Wilmington.

The couple was married in the Hillsboro Church of Christ by the Rev. Dr. Paul Jones at 7:30 p.m. March 28. They went to Hawaii on a 15-day tour for the wedding trip.

The former Mrs. Sauer is widely known in the area for her business connections and her many positions with charitable and civic organizations and long and unflagging work in these.

She was in the newspaper business in Missouri and when she came to Ohio she worked with her late husband in his newspapers in Leesburg, New Vienna and Lynchburg. He was also part owner of radio station WSRW, Hillsboro; she worked at that station. She is known in this area for her program 'Breakfast at Sauer's ' over WPFB radio station Middletown.

The past 11 years she was on the staff of the Clinton County National Bank and Trust Company in public relations as a teller.

For many years she has worked in heart, Red Cross, cancer associations and was treasurer of the Society for Crippled Children and Adults until she planned to marry. She is a trustee in the Central Ohio Heart Association and also in the Ohio Heart Association, did extensive Red Cross work and for 10 years worked in the cancer society.

She is a member of many social clubs and organizations. Mr. Wood is retired from the grain elevator business, moving to Washington C. H. from London 14 years ago.

Pleasant View Ladies Aid to give Bibles

The Pleasant View Ladies Aid met in the home of Mrs. H. T. Evans at Jeffersonville to reveal the members' secret sisters.

Mrs. Johnnie Bobbitt, president, called the meeting to order and Mrs. Peggy Franer gave several readings from a book given her several years ago by a former member of the group.

There were 21 present with guests, Mrs. Thelma Yenger and Mrs. Kenneth Ritenour, who later became members, and Mrs. Ed Pitzer, Mrs. Mary Rose Henderson, and the Misses Tina Yenger, Donna Bobbitt and Kathy Warnock.

Members answered roll call by naming a favorite April Fool's day joke.

It was decided to give Bibles to Tommy Cline, who will be graduated this year from Greeneview High School and to Steve Yenger, a student at Wittenberg University.

Plans for the annual lawn fete were initiated by naming the entertainment committee. It will be held July 8 at 6:30 p.m.

The next meeting will be May 16 noon in the home of Mrs. Franer.

Good food for family and guests

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Food Editor

When an accomplished author of numerous cookbooks puts together a new collection of recipes served often in her own home, you can be sure the collection is worth using. We're talking about "Good Food and How to Cook It" by Ann Seranne (William Morrow & Co.) Here Miss Seranne has concentrated on a wide variety of delicious main dishes with additional chapters on appetizers, vegetables and desserts to round out menus. The recipes come from American and international cuisine, and are written with helpful detail. They are perfect to use for family and guests.

One of the best dishes in the book originated in China and may be served as a luncheon salad or as a buffet dish. When we dried it in our test kitchen we found it superb.

LUXURIOUS CHICKEN SALAD PLATTER

Chinese-style Cooked Chicken, see below
1 head iceberg lettuce, cored and shredded
½ cup soy sauce
¼ cup honey
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon monosodium glutamate
2 cloves garlic, minced
4 green onions, chopped with as much of the green stalks as is tender
8 slices fresh ginger root (finely chopped) or ½ teaspoon ground ginger
1 teaspoon crushed dried red chili peppers
6 tablespoons peanut oil
Cherry tomatoes

Remove chicken from the liquid and slice into 2-inch pieces, about ½ inch wide. Arrange the chicken pieces in regimental fashion on the lettuce. Cover with transparent plastic wrap and return to the refrigerator.

In a small mixing bowl combine the soy sauce, honey, salt and monosodium glutamate. Add the garlic. Set aside.

In a small saucepan mix the green onion, ginger, red pepper and peanut oil. Place over low heat until mixture begins to simmer; stir into soy-sauce mixture. Set aside until needed.

Five to 10 minutes before serving, spoon the pungent dressing over the chicken to let the flavors blend. Garnish with cherry tomatoes. Serves 6.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

TUESDAY, APRIL 24

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Dealing with close associates may not be entirely satisfying, but those with persons at a distance could be extremely successful — especially if finances are involved.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

An unpleasant domestic situation should be clearing up now, so take a breather. A few hours devoted to creative work will clear up any lingering "clouds" and put your mind at east.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

If you are not sure of how to move in a certain situation, best put off action for a while; you are not likely to be rescued through luck.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Some family difficulties likely — especially with in-laws. Tact and patience on your part can be instrumental in lessening tension.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Rebellion against those in authority will not lessen your responsibilities, so calm down. Stress integrity to maintain your status.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Do not pay much attention if associates seem difficult. Many persons are "edgy" now, so don't take unseemly action personally.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Keep plans flexible: changing situations could make revision necessary. On the personal side: romance and outdoor interests highly favored.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

You are one of the few in a position to take strong and progressive action now, but be careful not to make too many waves. A certain amount of discretion needed.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

You may have an urge to gamble on speculative ventures; this, coupled with your undue optimism in finances, could have a severe effect on your resources. Care!

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

In spite of certain challenges and some opposition from those at the top, don't let your optimism run down. You are on the right track — as others will see later.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Some puzzling situations indicated. If you can touch bases with certain people at a distance, however, you can work things out.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Don't let rumors and idle speculation cause you to become restless and (or) indecisive. Carry out your plans as scheduled. Things should turn out well.

YOU BORN TODAY are unusually capable, self-reliant, persistent and responsible to a trust. You have a flair for the dramatic and may take to the theater as a career; also, your great love for the traditional would make you an excellent historian. Sympathetic and humanitarian in your impulses, the fields of education and social welfare are also fine outlets for your talents. Music and sculpture are the artistic mediums which you could easily commercialize. You can accomplish the "impossible" and normally welcome challenge with zest.

Air Guard at Lockbourne changes planes

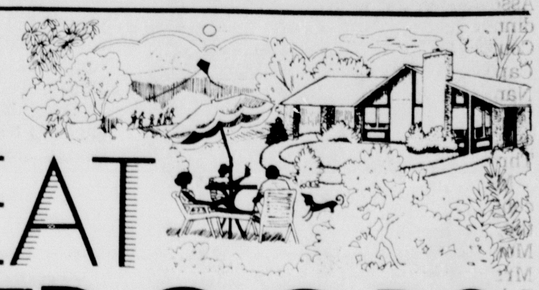

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 121st Air National Guard Group at Lockbourne Air Force Base near Columbus, Ohio, will get 18 A7D Corsair close-air support strike planes to replace 24 obsolescent F100 fighter-bombers, the Air Force announced.

The Air Force said the changeover, being made "to insure the most efficient use of existing facilities and resources to include maximum retention of Air National Guard personnel," will be completed by early next year.

The Pentagon is upgrading the weapons and equipment of reserve forces because of increased emphasis and reliance on them for early mobilization in the event of future emergencies.

The A7D has a range of more than 2,500 miles and can operate at a speed of about 700 miles an hour. It carries a 20 millimeter cannon and air-to-ground rockets. As a close-air support aircraft, its mission is to cover ground fighting units in battle.

NAVY PIONEER — Dr. Jane O. McWilliams, 26, an intern at a hospital in Syracuse, N. Y., begins training in Pensacola, Fla., this summer as the U.S. Navy's first woman flight surgeon, ministering to pilots and flight crews. Dr. McWilliams, of Paducah, Ky., said the need of the all-volunteer armed forces for new sources of "manpower" played as big a part in her breakthrough as the women's liberation movement.

Road crews slate variety of projects

City, county and state road crews have a variety of projects planned for this week if the weather clears.

Gene Fitzpatric, superintendent, of the Ohio Department of Highways, said two crews will be patching state highways throughout the county, and two crews will be working on berms. The department is also planning to remove snow fencing this week and will be picking up litter.

County Engineer Charles P. Wagner said county crews will be installing two culverts in Jefferson Township and will be ditching on the Knight Road and the Good Hope - New Holland Road.

The city crews, according to Bill Duncan, acting superintendent, will be cleaning catch basins and repairing manholes. Some streets will be patched if weather permits.

The strike, which began Friday, shut down classes and halted administrative functions.

A spokesman for the striking group Sunday said the strike would probably continue through this week.

Leaders of the striking students said they are asking that they be given assurance upon returning to school that funds will be available to them until they graduate.

Low and middle-income students at the school are now required to apply for financial assistance on a year-to-year basis, according to student leaders.

They said this year the problem has worsened and some students are being told that they will have to seek assistance from financial lending agencies where interest rates are higher.

Ohio statistician gets post in Washington

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The head statistician with the Ohio Crop Reporting Service for seven years, Dan Tucker, has been named chief of data collection branch for the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Washington D.C.

According to Tucker, he is to report to his new post May 15.

Ohio Perspective

Landlord backs tenants' rights

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Backers of a bill wanting more rights for tenants in their relationship with landlords got help from an unexpected source last week—a Cleveland landlord.

Jerry Hamilton of Cleveland, who owns 10 apartments in Cleveland's inner-city and is negotiating for more, said the bill could help landlords as well as tenants.

"Let's face it," he said in testimony before the Senate Judiciary Committee, "it doesn't do the average landlord any good to be grouped with slumlords who let their property deteriorate."

"This bill," he said, "would bring us landlords together and let us police our own. We could tell a guy who is letting his property run down to straighten it up or else."

Hamilton said there were several things in the bill he didn't like, but that he believed in the principle that a tenant has the right to expect a landlord to live up to his end of the bargain.

Under the bill, a tenant who reported unlawful and unsanitary conditions in an apartment dwelling and was ignored by the landlord could pay his rent to a court instead.

The court could, if it found the conditions to be true, use the money to fix up the place. The tenant could use the rent money himself to do it if the landlord didn't respond initially to his complaint. It would go into court only if there were objections from the landlord.

"I think this bill is favorable to both sides," Hamilton said. "It doesn't hurt anybody. It is right down the middle."

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, under attack from Democrats who think he is vulnerable in next year's elections, is getting endorsements from Democrats who sit on local election boards.

Several of them have written letters to Gov. John J. Gilligan and Democratic headquarters complaining about the attacks on Brown, a Republican.

Brown is the fifth member of every county board of elections.

TV Viewing

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Music Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Public Broadcasting Service tonight is presenting a made-for-television operat that is the first of its kind to originate outside of London, New York or Boston.

"Myshkin" was composed by John Eaton, an Indiana University faculty member, performed by 17 students and a teacher at the school and produced by WTIU-TV in Bloomington, Ind.

It isn't the first opera ever written for television. But it is the first in the National Educational Television Opera Theater series to come from other than a traditional opera center.

Although it has its problems, "Myshkin" is worth watching. And the impulse behind it can be applauded, hopefully continued and improved on.

Its major drawback is that its plot, based on Fyodor Dostoevesky's novel, "The Idiot," is extremely hard to follow.

And a synopsis by the composer at the beginning doesn't reveal how the opera ends. This viewer couldn't figure it out.

It may be that the novel is too complex to survive the transition to a one-hour opera in English. Then, too, the singers don't make their words understood.

But there are good things in "Myshkin," particularly composer Eaton's logical and effective use of different types of music to describe the spirit of Myshkin, an epileptic.

Eaton employs electronic music and wonderfully distorted images when Myshkin becomes irrational or sufferes seizures; traditional, though modern, music accompanies Myshkin's lucid periods.

The cast members, despite troubles with the opera's words, sing well, act well and look good. All are from the university's music school, which is best known for its opera department.

The production of "Myshkin" also is good, undoubtedly because WTIU, a public television station, already has done some 20 television opera productions, starting with "The Magic Flute" in 1954.

The Corporation of Public Broadcasting provided $50,000 for this production, one of 12 selected for CPB funding from more than 80 proposals submitted by public television stations in the United States.

The "Myshkin" libretto was written by Patrick Creagh, an Irish poet whom Eaton met when he was living and composing in Rome.

PRUNE ENERGY DIET

THE SUCCESSFUL DIET FOR ACTIVE PEOPLE

LOS ANGELES (Special)—The most important key health food known to man, neglected and overlooked by all but a small percentage who know the Hi Energy value of prunes in their daily lives. Heavy abundance of Vitamin C and E plus iron. 100% digestible for all ages. This diet plan works wonders for men women, children without pills drugs or exercise.

Prunes give quick vital energy which is crucial in any diet. No tired, dragged-out feeling as with other diets.

10 Lbs. in 10 Days

Those who follow the simple plan exactly as directed, report a loss of 10 pounds in 10 days, starting from the day they begin the diet. There is usually no weight loss for the first 4 days, but suddenly on the 5th day you can expect to drop as much as 5 pounds, and continue to lose about a pound a day up until the 10th day. Thereafter, you'll lose a pound and a half every two days until you reach your proper weight.

Eat Almost All You Want

Better yet, you can still eat almost as much as you want of foods like steak, chicken, lobster. And you will continue to lose weight. Full money back guarantee.

The use of prunes as prescribed by the plan, will, through natural action, act to help your body release excess fat and body fluids, allowing you to keep your weight down and figure in firm control.

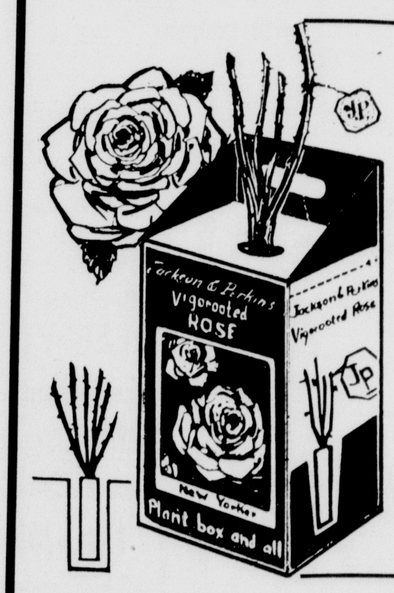

Plan Available

To get a copy of this highly successful plan and suggested menus; send $2.00 cash, check or M.O. No C.O.D. please. We pay postage.

Concepcion continues torrid start

Reds notch 6-3 win over hapless Braves

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sparky Anderson said yes it's nice to have one of the league's hottest shortstops, but that it doesn't mean Dave Concepcion's got a lock on the position.

"I never will give the job to David," said the Cincinnati Reds manager. "He plays better when he knows he doesn't have it."

Concepcion, a .205 and .209 hitter the past two seasons, continued his torrid spring start Sunday by driving in four runs as the Reds won the 10th of their last 13 games with a 6-3 victory over last place Atlanta.

His solo homer and two-run double bolstered his batting average to .402 after 11 games. "This is my best start ever," said the 24-year-old native of Venezuela.

He leads the league with 14 runs batted in.

"He's always had the talent," said Anderson, who has platooned Concepcion with Darrell Chaney at shortstop.

"But he can't keep it together," said Anderson. "One of these days he'll put it altogether. We hope it's right now, because he's an untapped talent. We think he has the best all-around ability in baseball."

Concepcion said he's using a lighter bat this season and moving up on the plate.

"And he's maturing," said Anderson.

Concepcion said he is limiting his pre-game batting practice to 10 or 12 swings. "Otherwise I'm too tired late in the game, he said.

Sunday he started the Reds' scoring with a fielders choice grounder in the second inning to ignite a three-run outburst.

It was the eighth loss in nine games for the reeling Braves, who may have also lost the services of slugger Hank Aaron temporarily.

Aaron said he hurt his back during Saturday's batting practice.

"It doesn't hurt, but it bothers my swing," said Aaron, who is in a 5-for-38 slump, but has four homers.

Ed Mathews, in his first full season as manager of the Braves, said Atlanta "just isn't getting the hitting."

Mathews hinted he may return knuckleball veteran Phil Niekro to the starting rotation and also move newcomer Roric Harrison out of the bullpen and into the lineup.

Harrison pitched two innings of shutout ball Sunday, lowering his earned run average to 0.64 after 14 innings of relief.

The Reds host Cleveland Monday night in an exhibition game, while the Braves are idle.

Nicklaus tops Trevino by one in fierce duel

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — "Oh, that's fun," Jack Nicklaus said. "That's the whole thing."

"That's what this game is about. Here was Lee in a spurt and then I made birdies on three of the last seven holes.

"That's the whole thing—responding to a challenge, playing the way you want to play, doing the things you want to do, and winning. On the other hand, if you lose, it kills you."

Nicklaus had just scored a record fourth career victory in the $200,000 MONY-Tournament of Champions, a golf event he ranks right behind the big four of the U.S. and British Opens, the Masters and PGA.

"When I was able to come back like that, with three birdies on the last seven holes, well, that's the way to finish a tournament. I'm doubly pleased about it because my other two wins this year were both marginal, in playoffs."

The Golden Bear, who stretched his season's leading money-winning total to $146,604, fashioned a rallying four-underpar 68 on the tough, demanding, 7,114-yard La Costa Country Club course. He had a 72 hole total of 276, 12 under par.

Trevino, who actually took a two stroke lead at one time, couldn't hang on. His 67 was the best round of the warm, sunny day but his 277 total was one stroke too much to record the victory he needed to become pro golf's fourth $1 million winner.

"Well, there's next year," Trevino said. "I've always said Nicklaus is the greatest golfer in the world. Any time I can beat him, I'm lucky."

But the challenge seemed to serve only as a spur to the 33-year-old Golden Bear who now is the season's first three-time winner.

He wedged to about a half foot for a birdie on the 12th hole just as Trevino was three-putting for bogey on the 13th. That was a two-stroke swing in Nicklaus' favor and suddenly they were tied.

Trevino birdied the 15th just as Nicklaus did the same on the 14th, but Jack went ahead to stay on the 15th where he punched his approach just to the left of the flag. The ball sucked back to pin high and he had a little four-foot putt for birdie. Nicklaus made it and had the margin he needed.

Trevino picked up $23,404 for second and pushed his career earnings to some $985,137. Only Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper have gone past $1 million in a career.

Jim Colbert was third with a 69-281 and Chi Chi Rodriguez was next with 69-282. Both made brief runs at the leaders, but faded back and left the duel to the game's two greatest players.

Rookie stuns Gibson in Phils' 2-1 victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Gibson pumped and pitched. It was right down Mike Schmidt's alley—a juicy fastball inside.

"I was looking for something there," said Schmidt after hitting a two-out, ninth-inning home run off the Old Master Sunday to give the Philadelphia Phillies a 2-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals and a sweep of their doubleheader.

Schmidt, who also got a hit as the Phillies won the opener 4-2 behind Steve Carlton, didn't find Gibson an easy mark until the ninth.

"He was everything I ever dreamed he would be," said the Phillies' rookie. "But he threw me down and in and that is the pitch I hit out of the park."

How does a rookie feel hitting one out off the Cardinal star?

"I never remember being this excited about anything," said Schmidt, who only got into 13 games last season.

The Phillies' victories gave them a three-game sweep of the Cardinals and put them over .500 with a 7-6 record—euphorious status considering last year's disastrous 59-97 record.

In the other National League games, the San Francisco Giants trimmed the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-2; the Houston Astros nipped the San Diego Padres 4-3; the Cincinnati Reds beat the Atlanta Braves 6-3; the Montreal Expos defeated the New York Mets 2-1 in the 10th inning of the first game of a doubleheader, then lost the second game 13-3, and Pittsburgh and Chicago split a doubleheader with the Pirates winning the opener 10-4 and the Cubs the nightcap, 11-3.

Before Schmidt won the second game Hollywood-style, Carlton won the opener in his usual style—power pitching.

The Cards scored two early unearned runs off Carlton, but the big left-hander stayed calm and won his third game in five decisions as Bill Robinson and Larry Bowa each knocked in two runs.

Garry Maddox slugged a three-run homer and also doubled to lead the Giants past the Dodgers. Jim Barr and Randy Moffitt combined on a five-hitter.

Roger Metzger singled home the winning dun to cap a three-run rally in the sixth inning as Houston beat San Diego.

Dave Concepcion drove in four runs with a homer and double and Ross Grimsley survived three Atlanta home runs as the Reds beat the Braves. Johnny Oates, Dusty Baker and Darrell Evans hit homers off the Red ace.

Tim Foli's two-out single in the 10th inning scored Boots Day from second base and gave Montreal its first-game victory over New York. In the nightcap, Jim McAndrew won his first game of the season with relief help from George Stone as the Mets exploded for their highest run tot l this year.

Pittsburgh whipped Chicago in the opener of their doubleheader as Bob Robertson and Willie Stargell hit two homers apiece. The Cubs came back to win the second game as Ron Santo and Rick Monday hit two-run homers.

Madison County fire kills 30 race horses

LONDON — A fire at the Madison County Fairgrounds Sunday night took the lives of 30 standardbred horses valued at more than $300,000.

Twenty other horses were rescued from the 50-year-old wooden barn, some of them suffering from smoke inhalation. No estimate was available for the 64-stall, cross-shaped frame barn built around 1930. The building also housed a sale and show arena.

The cause of the blaze could not be determined by fire department officials. They said no one was in the barn at the time of the fire, which occured at 5:30 p.m., shortly after the horses were fed.

FIRE COMPANIES from five surrounding townships aided the London department in putting out the blaze.

Witnesses reported the fire was visible for several miles around the city. Firemen managed to prevent the blaze from spreading to the nearby racetrack grandstands.

Hardest hit by the blaze was the Dick Hackett stables which lost 17 horses in the fire. The William (Doc) McMillen stables lost 12 horses, reportedly his entire stable.

Hackett horses lost in the blaze included Weather Vane, Quaker Oil, Let Her Streak and Menagerie and eight unraced two-year-olds.

Most of the horses in both stables were being readied for the 1973 campaign at Scioto Downs, which opens May 18. The trotters and pacers were kept at the fairgrounds and the track was used as a training facility.

Stan Vinson sets mark in relays

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Eastern Michigan University track Coach Bob Parks likes to call the Hurons' slender sophomore Stan Vinson "a superman with a baton in his hand."

Vinson may not have been superman in the Ohio State Track Relays, but he did break the 440-yard record twice and anchored Eastern Michigan's winning mile relay.

Dark Diller victor in Lebanon feature

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Dark Diller, a 7-2 shot, took charge at the three-quarter mark to upset favorites Hurry Home and Wingait Champion in the $2,250 feature race at Lebanon Raceway Saturday night.

The winner won by a nose and returned $10.80, $4 and $3. Hurry Home paid $3 and $2.40. Wingait Champion was $3 to show.

An all-time handle of $253,380 was established as 4,425 fans turned out on a balmy night.

Cincinnati Swords turn back Wings, 6-2

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Swords move to the Virginia Wings' home ice Tuesday and Thursday for games three and four of the best of seven semi-final American Hockey League Calder Cup series.

Cincinnati, on Billy Inglis' goahead and insurance goals in the final period evened up the series Sunday night at one each. The Swords beat the Wings 6-2.

Tribe rookie slams in split with Bosox

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Whoever said that anyone with a bat in his hand is dangerous certainly wasn't referring to Ron Lolich or John Vukovich...until Sunday.

Lolich, a 26-year-old Cleveland outfielder, had failed to hit in his one previous at-bat this season and came into the campaign with a lifetime mark of .182 and only two home runs in 88 trips.

But he stepped to the plate with the bases loaded and two out in the bottom of the ninth inning and crashed a grand slam home run off Boston's Sonny Siebert to give the Indians a thrilling 8-7 victory in the first part of a doubleheader. The Red Sox came back to take the nightcap 5-2.

Vukovich's statistics were even worse than Lolich's. The 25-year-old infielder spent part of the 1970 and 1971 seasons with the Philadelphia Phillies and showed a meager .164 average in 225 at-bats with nary a home run—or even a triple, for that matter.

So it was a distinct surprise when he unloaded a three-run homer off relief ace Sparky Lyle in the seventh inning that lifted the Milwaukee Brewers, who obtained him in an off-season trade, to a 4-3 triumph over the New York Yankees.

Elsewhere in the American League, Kansas City split a twin bill with the Chicago White Sox, losing 8-4 before winning 6-1; Baltimore defeated Detroit 5-3, Oakland edged California 3-2 in 10 innings and Minnesota beat Texas 6-4.

Home runs by Rico Petrocelli, Reggie Smith and Carl Yastrzemski helped the Red Sox open the 7-4 lead that Lolich wiped out with one swing. Oscar Gamble and Jack Brohamer also homered for the Indians.

The Red Sox sealed the nightcap with four runs in the fifth inning, highlighted by Tommy Harper's two-run single. Charlie Spikes homered for the Indians.

As befits an .042 hitter, which was his pregame mark, Milwaukee's Vukovich wasn't thinking home run when he came to bat with two runners aboard and the Brewers trailing 3-1, even though he'd had a single earlier in the game.

"The way I've been swinging, a home run was the farthest thing from my mind," he confessed.

A five-run second inning featuring Carlos May's three-run homer powered the White Sox over the Royals in their opener.

In the nightcap, the Royals slammed five doubles, two by Steve Hovley, to gain a split.

Left fielder Willie Horton was both hero and goat in the sixth inning of Detroit's loss to Baltimore. He doubled home the lead run in the top of the frame and then made an error on Don Baylor's single in the bottom half that allowed three decisive runs to score.

Ted Kubiak singled home the winning run with two out in the 10th inning as the A's edged the Angels.

Steve Braun's three-run tiebreaking double in the sixth inning was the key blow in Minnesota's triumph over Texas.

Ohio whips Hoosiers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Good basketball for a good cause is what the Ohio-Indiana college all-star basketball series is all about, and Ohio University coach Jim Snyder believes the fourth annual event was a success.

"We told them to move the ball and have some fun and put on a good show for the fans," Snyder said after the Ohio squad whipped the Hoosiers 100-82 Saturday night. "I think they did that and I was really pleased."

Allan Hornyak of Ohio State pumped in 31 points to lead the Buckeye squad to victory after the Indiana all-stars had won the first game of the two-game 1973 series Friday night.

Indiana holds a 5-3 advantage for the eight games played since the Sertoma benefit began in 1970.

Hornyak, who later was voted the most valuable player, was backed up by Leonard Paul of Akron with 20 points.

John Ritter of Indiana University paced the Hoosiers with 15 points. His teammate, Steve Downing, who took scoring honors Friday night, was held to seven points.

Indiana wins

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Indiana University nipped Ohio State University, 1,152 to 1,157, and won the Kepler Invitational college golf tournament Sunday at Ohio State's Scarlet course.

Knicks take cliffhanger from Celtics; 2 overtimes

NEW YORK (AP) — The Boston Celtics won the first three periods Sunday afternoon—but the New York Knicks came back to take the next three, and a 117-110 double-overtime decision over the Celtics.

The victory in Game 4 gave the Knicks a commanding 3-1 lead over the Celtics in their National Basketball Association Eastern Conference playoff finals, and they can wrap it up by winning the fifth game Wednesday night in Boston.

The Los Angeles Lakers, ahead 3 games to 0 in their best-of-7 Western Division playoff finals against the Golden State Warriors, can finish that series tonight in Game 4 in Oakland.

Over in the ABA, Indiana has taken its second consecutive Western playoff crown by defeating the Utah Stars in six games, while the Eastern Division finals' winner will be decided Tuesday night. Kentucky and Carolina, each with three victories, meet in Greensboro, N.C. for Game 7.

"I have never seen a game in so many stages," said Walt Frazier, who scored a gamehigh 37 points, including 15 in the furious fourth-quarter rally which saw the Knicks erase a 16-point deficit.

"In the first half I was bad, in the third quarter I was worse," said Frazier. "After three quarters, when Boston led 72-56, I just wanted to get it over with.

"It's a good thing you can't quit, because we would have conceded the game right there. It looked like a lost cause."

Not so. As Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn said later, "You have to be 20 points up in the last quarter to beat New York — and we were only ahead by 16."

Boston, hobbled by the absence of team captain John Havlicek, sidelined by torn muscles in his right shoulder, simply ran out of gas in the final period. Heinsohn was unable to substitute as freely as he would have liked, and his regulars were obviously tired in the late stages. Boston guards Don Chaney and Jo Jo White and center Dave Cowens all eventually fouled out.

Kentucky Derby wide open

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

To run or not to run in the 99th Kentucky Derby? That is the problem facing many horse trainers today. One trainer is trying to decide whether two great horses will start and two trainers are feuding over another standout who may or may not start.

The May 5 classic also could run into traffic jam problems, since the greatest early Derby favorite of all time, Secretariat, showed he's fallible when he was soundly defeated in the Wood Memorial.

That defeat has trainers the nation over thinking seriously again of the fragrance of American Beauty roses that go with a Derby victory. It could mean a field of 15 to 20—again.

But, apparently, that field won't include California Derby winner Linda's Chief.

Al Scotti, trainer for Neil Hellman's Eastern String, paid a visit to Golden Gate fields Saturday, watching Hellman's Linda's Chief score easily.

Afterward, he and Rob Frankel, Hellman's West Coast trainer, disagreed over the colt's chances in the most famous horse race in America—the 1¼-mile classic at Louisville for 3-year-olds.

Frankel, the leading trainer last season at Hollywood Park with victories in half of his 180 starts, said the horse simply wasn't ready to go to the eastern classics right now.

Scotti said just the opposite and Hellman decided to let the two work it out. Frankel apparently won. It was revealed Sunday night that Linda's Chief may pass up the Kentucky Derby.

Meantime, in New York, trainer Lucien Laurin found himself with Meadow Stud's Secretariat, the first odds-on winter book favorite in Derby history, and Angle Light under the same shedrow.

In case you're behind the times, Angle Light, racing under the Edwin Whittaker silks, soundly whipped Secretariat Saturday in the Wood. In fact, there was a horse between them—Sham.

Before that 1:49 4-5—the winning time of the Wood, Secretariat pretty well had the Kentucky Derby conceded to him. Now, frankly, he hasn't.

14 auto deaths mar Ohio holiday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fourteen persons were killed on Ohio highways over the Easter weekend, three fewer than died the weekend before.

The dead included four pedestrians.

The weekend count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

The dead:

FRIDAY NIGHT

COLUMBUS — Steven Ison, 7, Columbus, struck by a car at an intersection while he was riding a bicycle.

CHARDON — Robert Doychak, 36, Lakewood, when he jumped from a truck after its brakes failed.

TIFFIN — Scott J. Swope, 17, and his brother, Steven, 21, of Tiffin, when their car ran off a curve on a Seneca County road two miles north of Tiffin and crashed into a ravine.

SATURDAY

BARNESVILLE — Michael R. Secrest, 19, Barnesville, in a single-car accident in Barnesville.

VAN WERT — Kelly Zoe Lawrence, 6, Van Wert, when she apparently ran in front of a car near her home.

OTTAWA HILLS — Pamela J. Eddy, 10, Ottawa Hills, when she was struck by a car.

WARREN — Edith Matthews, 68, Brookfield, in a two-car crash in Southington.

TOLEDO — Cornelius McElhannon, 37, Lorain, in a one-car accident on Ohio 2 in Lucas County.

CHARDON — Curtice D. Byler, 16, Middlefield, in a two-car wreck on Ohio 608 in Geauga County.

CINCINNATI — Michael Mills, 18, Barbourville, Ky., as he hitchhiked along I-75 north of Cincinnati.

MIDDLEBURG HEIGHTS — Mary Kirchling, 81, of Middleburg Heights, struck by a car on Bagley Road in Middleburg Heights in Cuyahoga County.

SUNDAY

EUCLID — Clyde Minnick, 16, of Wickliffe, in a one-car accident in Euclid.

GEORGETOWN — David Hurt, 18, Seaman, two miles south of his hometown on Ohio 247 in a one-car accident.

Man and woman slain in Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A man and a woman were shot to death Sunday night in a south side residence, according to Columbus police.

Police said Mrs. Linda Harbour, 27, and Farris Marion Castle, 28, both of Columbus, were found dead from bullet wounds in Mrs. Harbour's residence.

Police are searching for a suspect and said they believe the motive for the killings was jealousy.

Ohio mental patients taught 'humanization'

By HENRY HEILBRUNN
Associated Press Writer

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — In each of the state's six mental retardation institutes, some residents are being taught "humanization."

State officials and families hope they will be able to use what they learn.

Dr. Kenneth D. Gaver, director of the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, explains "humanization" as "a chance for privacy, for possessions, for ownership, for option. It means a physical, spiritual, social and personal environment that makes one feel human again, human in the most noble sense of the word.

"It means a chance for growth, for participation, for graduation."

"Humanization" for 13-year-old Jimmy Sidles means polite manners, dressing himself, cleanliness and constructive recreation.

"Jimmy came out of the worst ward in the state of Ohio," said his mother, Mrs. Jo Ann Sidles or Richfield. "It had wall-to-wall children. They survived by stealing food from each others' plates.

"They were living in their own excretement. Two people tried to care for 40 to 50 children.

"On Sunday afternoons we would take him out of Apple Creek to clean him up. We would take him to a public restroom, sit him on our lap and wash him."

"Humanization" still is an infant — eight pilot programs of training, kindness and cheerful surroundings reaching only 1,000 retardees. The state had 8,831 retarded persons institutionalized at the beginning of 1973.

The families and the state look at "humanization" and see a promised land, but they must cross a mountain of money and a desert of manpower before they get to that haven for the disadvantaged.

"Two years ago," said Rep. James Mueller, D-74 Chesterland, "we were not even delivering the services that a good zoo delivers to some of its animals, but the amount of progress to upgrade the kids is still minimal."

Dr. James Gardner of Columbus, a clinical psychologist whou quit his job at Orient State Institute in Pickaway County to file two suits against the state to improve care, said, "The program is a small attempt to create humanizing conditions, but one a small attempt affecting a small number of retarded people in Ohio."

"In order to have a really good program, we have to up expenditures by at least 50 per cent of what we have today," Mueller said. He wants to spend another $32 million each year, but said the legislature will not agree.

To drop resident-to-attendant ratio equal to "humanization" ward levels of eight-to-one, the state must hire 2,000 aides at an added expense of $12 million.

"Humanization" has large institutions growing smaller and smaller, community homes thriving, schools and sheltered workshops for the retarded springing up.

James White, executive director of the Ohio Association of Retarded Children, estimated 2,000 retarded residents of state institutions could be returned to the communities.

One Orient State official said 500 residents could be placed immediately in the community, if room existed. No facility exists for graduates of Apple Creek's "humanization" program.

Dr. Roger M. Gove, commissioner of the Division of Mental Retardation, said the state has funds for community homes, but urban areas balk at establishing them.

"It is a combination of not willing and not able to accept residents back into the community," he said.

The final product of humanization — graduation or discharge — appears distant. Dr. Gove said several hundred residents could be placed back in communities, but zoning laws particularly in Youngstown, Toledo, Cincinnati and Columbus are troublesome.

"People are surrounded by suspicions and myths about the mentally retarded," a division spokesman said. "There is only so much we as a department of state can do unless people accept it."

Barry Goldwater Jr. to speak in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Rep. Barry M. Goldwater Jr., R-Calif., will speak here May 4 before the spring conference of the Ohio Federation of Republican Women.

The 34-year-old Goldwater is the son of the 1964 Republican presidential nominee. He is serving his third term in Congress.

About 450 women are expected to attend the conference May 3-5.

Nixon hears sermon on sin, vacations on private island,

GRAND CAY, Bahamas (AP) — President Nixon vacationed with two of his close friends today, enjoying the seclusion of a private island in the Bahamas.

With him was C. G. "Bebe" Rebozo, his next-door neighbor at the Florida White House, and island owner Robert Abplanalp, president of Precision Valve Co., Bronxville, N.Y.

Nixon helicoptered here Sunday after attending Easter services with his family at the Key Biscayne Presbyterian Church.

There, the minister, the Rev. John A. Huffman Jr., delivered a sermon that urged a return to moral principles and suggested a change in current lifestyle.

"I don't like to talk about sin," said the minister, "but let's face it, it's a fact of our society. It's a fact of your life and my life."

Huffman said being seriously religious might mean "there will be business dealings you'll have to stay out of... there'll be friendships that you will have to break off and there'll be some courageous statements that are going to be tough to make."

But, he added, "there's nothing you've done that cannot be forgiven, nothing that God can't sweep away and give you a fresh, new start."

With the Watergate investigation prominent in newspaper headlines Sunday, the minister was asked if he was alluding to the case in his sermon, especially when he cited a Biblical passage about incient King Agrippa:

"For the king knoweth of these things... I am persuaded that none of these things are hidden from him; for this thing was not—one in a corner."

Asked about the sermon, Huffman replied: "I preach the gospel of Jesus Christ. I speak it clearly. You can draw your own implications... Whatever the President wishes to make of it was between him and the Lord."

Huffman said he had decided on the sermon long before he knew Nixon was coming.

Columbus man drowns

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Michael Disstefano, 21, of Columbus, drowned early Sunday in a pool at a far east side apartment complex.

In 1972, commercial honey production in the United States reached 106,050,000 pounds, up 13 per cent from 1971.

College program aimed at vets

By GARY LUHR
Associated Press Writer

PIKEVILLE, KY. (AP) — A member of President Nixon's task force on higher education for Vietnam era veterans thinks too often colleges' efforts to attract veterans "end at the admissions office."

DENNIS LOVE

"Veterans have the maturity and motivation (to succeed in college) but often lack academic self confidence," said Dennis Love, dean of developmental studies at Pikeville College.

Since coming to Kentucky, the 30-year-old Ohio native has spent part of his time traveling to other schools promoting programs "to get the veteran back on his feet."

"It's a matter of saying to the veteran, 'College is not as hard as you think,' " Love said.

At Pikeville, this effort is known as the Veterans Educational Training Program, a study skills course that covers such basics as how to take notes, how to outline a textbook, how to listen in class and how to prepare for examinations.

"A lot of veterans went into the Army because they flunked out of college or because they couldn't get in in the first place," Love said.

"Many saw the army as a means of upward mobility but a lot of them came back without any usable skills," he said.

The most recent rigures from Frankfort listed about 16,000 unemployed veterans in Kentucky.

"The biggest problem (in getting veterans to college) is reaching them," Love said.

In many places, he said veterans who already have returned to college are working in outreach programs. "But even they are having trouble reaching other vets," he said.

TRADITIONAL methods aren't working, he said. Among new methods he described is a mobile van in Detroit that visits neighborhoods where returning veterans live. Another includes advertising in "want ad" columns, "which is often the only thing a veteran is reading these days," he said.

"The Veterans Administration is doing all it can. The states, the cities and the colleges themselves have to do more," Love said.

Before coming to Pikeville, Love headed a similar veterans program at the University of Detroit. There, he said, veterans who took his course averaged grades that were twice as good as those who didn't.

Love said a class predominately for veterans serves another purpose in that it gives them a chance to talk about mutual problems and experiences.

This is especially important, he said, because unlike previous post-war periods there no longer are large, easily identifiable groups of veterans on campuses.

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Dropsy, Move Over for Edema

When I was young I remember that my father said he was bothered by dropsy.

We never hear about dropsy anymore. Is it a disease that has been wiped out by antibiotics?

Miss E. G., Del.

Dear Miss G.:

Dropsy is not a disease; rather it is a symptom. It refers to an unusual accumulation and retention of fluid in the tissues of the body.

The term "dropsy" is outdated. It has been replaced by the word "edema." Both are used almost interchangeably. Chronic diseases of the heart, the liver, kidneys, and impaired blood circulation can be responsible for the abnormal collection of fluid in the body tissue.

When swelling or edema is recognized, the basic cause must be found and remedied in order to rid the body of the burden of excess fluids.

When I am nervous or under unusual strain, my heart gives a few extra beats. It scares me, and takes me a half hour to calm down again.

How serious is this?

Mrs. N. N., Colo.

Dear Mrs. N.:

Many people describe this feeling by saying, "My heart was in my mouth."

This is how they describe what is known by physicians as extra "systoles."

Normally, the heart beats at a regular rhythm, with fixed intervals of rest between each beat. Occasionally, the rhythm is thrown off, and an extra beat occurs to produce the sensation you describe.

Fatigue, emotional stress, overindulgence in alcohol and tobacco may be responsible for these extra beats, or extra systoles.

In most instances, they are of no importance and do not indicate heart damage or heart disease. They are not a cause for alarm. They are, however, a cause for rightful concern which can be alleviated by the simple process of a complete examination, including an electrocardiogram.

This would be reassuring and free you of anxiety, which in itself can cause the extra systoles.

My wife has never been the same since her palm was read and she was told something about her "life line."

Can you help me relieve her fears by telling her if longevity can be really determined by the "life line" in the hand?

Mr. A. R., Maine

Dear Mr. R.:

For centuries people have been caught in the trap of mysticism that surrounds such inept "medical guidance." There is no validity to the estimation of longevity by a particular line in the palm.

It sometimes takes a great deal of effort to eradicate the unfounded fears implanted in the minds of sensitive people. These people should not expose themselves to such unscientific interpretation.

Opening lead - two of spades.

In most deals declarer has a monopoly on deception during the play. He can play his cards in any fashion he wishes, not caring a particle whether he fools partner, while the defenders, on the other hand, each run the risk of fooling the other if they attempt deception.

However, this doesn't mean that the defenders never have their innings. They too can sometimes steer a deceptive course and in that way mislead declarer.

One of the best examples of keen defensive play is this hand where Edgar Kaplan, prominent New York star, sat East. He saw, as soon as dummy appeared, that there was no hope of beating the contract unless West had the ace of clubs. Dummy had eight winners in sight and South, on the bidding, clearly had a spade trick.

So when West led a spade, Kaplan won with the ace instead of the king. He wanted to sell declarer the idea that West had the king of spades, even though he realized his play would cause West to think that South had it.

Kaplan then led the king of clubs — another deliberately misleading play, since he lacked the ace or queen to back it up. The purpose was to persuade declarer that his lead was from the A-K

When the king won, Kaplan returned a low club, presenting South with a crucial guess. After a long struggle, declarer played the queen — basing his decision on the assumption that Kaplan's overcall was made with the ace of spades and A-K of clubs.

West took the queen with the ace, returned a spade, and declarer went down two when East cashed two club tricks.

Had Kaplan won the first spade with the king and returned a low club, South would almost surely have played low and made three notrump.

Snakehandling, drinking of poison eyed by court

NEWPORT, Tenn. (AP) — Does the handling of poisonous snakes and the drinking of poison at religious services jeopardize the peace, good order and morals of society?

That is the question Circuit Court Judge George R. Shepherd is asked to answer today as the state seeks to stop such practices by members of the Holiness Church of God in Jesus Name.

The Rev. Liston Pack and four members of his congregation of 48 were cited to appear before Shepherd after two men died April 8 from drinking strychnine at the church.

Pack said the men, the Rev. Jimmy Ray Williams, 34, assistant pastor, and Buford Pack, 30, drank the poison to test their faith. Buford Pack was Liston Pack's brother.

Although Dist. Atty. Henry F. Swann obtained a temporary injunction last week to prohibit church members' handling snakes and drinking poison, snakes were handled at a subfequent service.

Pack has said the tiny mountain congregation will go on cradling the reptiles in their arms and drinking poison despite any court rulings.

"We've given no thought to quitting," said Pack, adding that he and his flock regard God's law as higher than man's.

"We try to obey the laws of the land, but God's law comes first," explained Pack, who makes his living driving a truck.

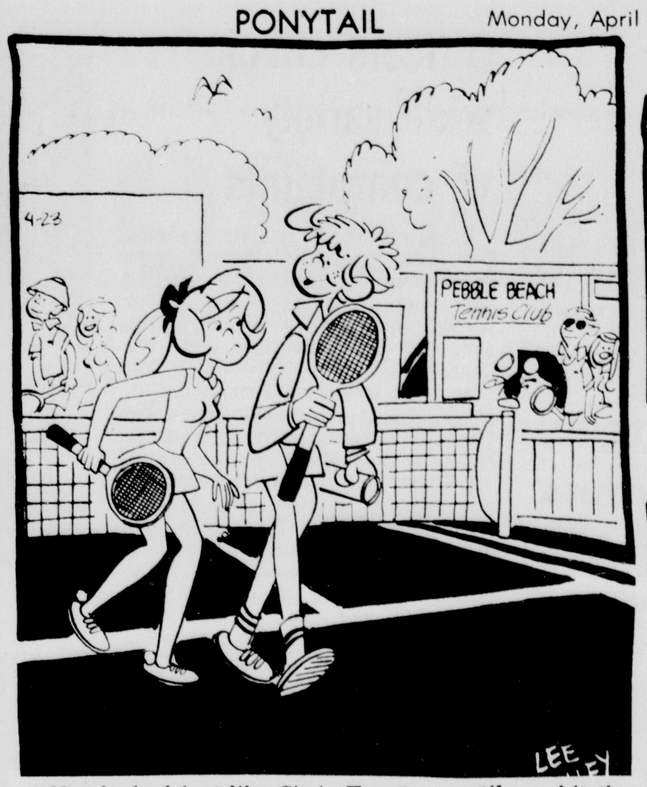

In asking that the church members be barred permanently from handling snakes and drinking poison at their services, Swann said:

"This case is not intended to interfere with the right and freedom of worship, but religious guarantees cannot be invoked to the point of jeopardizing the peace, good order and morals of society."

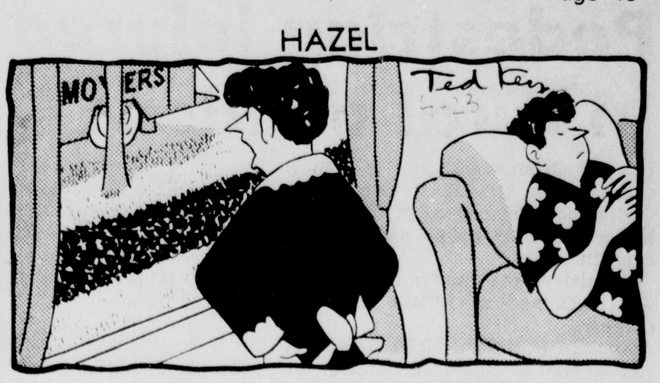

Handling poisonous snakes at a religious service is a misdemeanor in Tennessee, punishable by a fine of $50 to $150 and a jail term up to six months.

The Pack brothers and Williams were convicted in October 1970 of handling snakes, but judgment was reserved and no fines were levied.

Pedestrian injured in rural accident

A pedestrian was slightly injured in one of five traffic accidents investigated in the city-county area over the weekend by police and sheriff's departments.

One driver was cited in the mishaps which caused moderate property damage.

Richard W. Ratliff, 16, Rt. 3, Sabina, was treated at Memorial Hospital for an injury to his right leg suffered when he was struck by a car near Milledgeville Sunday evening.

Sheriff's deputies said Ratliff was walking east on the north side of Milledgeville-Octa Road and ran across the road into the path of an eastbound car driven by Jo Ann Ison, 20, of 1357 N. North St. The left front of the Ison car struck Ratliff, knocking him to the pavement.

He was released after treatment in the emergency room.

Carl H. Janes, 62, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville, was cited for failure to maintain assured clear distance after a two-car crash on Columbus Avenue at Wilson Street Saturday afternoon.

Officers said a car driven by Marsha L. Perry, 21, of 301 E. Circle Ave., stopped tor a traffic light and was struck in the rear by the Janes car. Both vehicles were moderately damaged.

Other mishaps investigated were:

POLICE

SATURDAY, 11:09 a.m. — Cars driven by Barbara L. Dean, 34, of 507 Frank St., and Linda . Cadwallader, 31, Hillsboro, were involved in a minor crash on Frank Street, near Nelson Place; damage minor.

SHERIFF

SATURDAY, 10:21 a.m. — A car driven by Melodie Carner, 18, of 1125 Campbell St., received damage to the undercarriage when it hit a culvert on private property near Jeffersonville; damage minor.

SUNDAY, 2:15 p.m. — A car driven by William E. Camp, 20, Rt. 4, skidded off Parrott Station Road at Ohio 41 as he attempted to stop and collided with a culvert; damage moderate.

Courts

CASE DISMISSED

The damage suit filed by Elizabeth A. and Wilson Harper, Rt. 1, Good Hope, against Carl C. Stackhouse, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville, and the Agrico Chemical Co., Robinson Road, has been dismissed on a motion by the plaintiffs. The plaintiffs sought $30,000 as damages in connection with a traffic accident Jan. 4, 1971.

William Simms Halliday, 28, of 557 Albin Ave., self-employed, and Linda Lee Rulon, 25, of 19 Colonial Court, secretary.

DELINQUENT CHILDREN

Two sisters, ages 11 and 12, placed on probation of Officer Marshall Boggs when they were found to be delinquent children by Juvenile Court Judge Rollo M. Marchant. The girls were charged with the break-in of a dwelling to steal rings.

BancOhio enters Cleveland field

CLEVELAND — A new development in banking occurred as BancOhio Corp. completed the purchase of the Capital National Bank, Cleveland, marking the first entry into Ohio's largest market by Ohio's largest multi-bank holding company.

According to Philip F. Searle, president and chief executive officer of BancOhio, and Frank B. Fisher, president and chief executive officer of Capital National Bank, the affiliation was accomplished by BancOhio's purchase of the bank, an $8.5 million cash transaction, from Shelter Resources Corp. Acting in compliance with bank holding company legislation, Shelter Resources divested itself of the bank in order to continue expansion in the mobile home industry and other related activities.

With its entrance into the Greater Cleveland area, BancOhio will nearly double its market potential in Ohio. With the inclusing of Capital National Bank, the 35 BancOhio affiliates are capable of serving approximately 70 per cent of Ohio's 10.7 million population.

Two boards to eye ditch improvement

A joint meeting of Fayette and Greene County boards of commissioners will be held Tuesday to discuss the request for the extension of the Grassy Branch Ditch improvement project.

The proposed extension of the project is east of the Allen Road in Jasper Township.

The two boards previously approved the original phase at a preliminary hearing. A final hearing has not been scheduled.

Fayette County commissioners currently are seeking cost estimates for the repainting of the Courthouse and the Welfare Building.

Officers check wide variety of complaints

A variety of complaints, ranging from assault to grand larceny, were investigated by police and sheriff's departments over the weekend. Four persons, including two juveniles, were arrested in connection with the inquiries.

An alert off-duty Washington C.H. police officer arrested a 22-year-old local man for petty larceny at Buckeye Mart Saturday afternoon.

Leonard Kelly, 22, of 721 Gregg St., was charged by Patrolman Michael Stritenberger after Kelly allegedly attempted to leave the store without paying for two hats valued at $5.77. The officer said Kelly put the two hats under his coat and left the store. Stritenberger stopped Kelly outside the store and placed him under arrest. He is presently lodged in the city jail under $200 bond.

ASSAULT CHARGES were filed against Fred E. Jones, 21, of 317 Lewis St., after he allegedly molested a local woman Sunday afternoon.

The women told police she was standing near the intersection of Lewis and Brown streets, waiting for her ride, when Jones walked up and asked her directions to Greenfield. She said Jones then began fondling her but fled when a car approached.

He was later apprehended and released after posting $100 bond.

Two girls, ages 14 and 15, were arrested by sheriff's deputies in separate shoplifting incidents at the Sea-way store Saturday.

Officers said both girls had gone to the shoe department and allegedly exchanged the shoes they were wearing for new ones, then attempted to leave the store. Both were later released to the custody of their parents.

THREE JUVENILES, escapees from the Fairfield School for Boys, were arrested just inside the Fayette County line after stealing a car in Amanda early Monday.

Sheriff's deputies said the trio was apprehended on U.S. 35 by Highway Patrol officers and removed to the Chillicothe jail. They had abandoned the car in Ross County about two miles south of the line and were walking north when finally apprehended.

Fayette County deputies assisted in the arrests.

Lester Jordan, Rt. 3, reported that someone entered a barn on his Washington-Waterloo Road farm and removed minimum tillage attachments from his eight-row corn planter. Jordan said the theft took place sometime after the first of the year. Loss of the attachments was set at $600.

A .25 caliber automatic pistol was stolen from Dunn's Bait Store, Waterloo, Friday. The gun, valued at $79, was removed from a counter at the store.

A BANK containing $35 in half dollars was stolen from the Gerald Raypole home sometime Friday night. Raypole said his wife had accidentally left the key in the front door when they left the house Friday night. Another bank containing $10 in change also was emptied.

Richard Sefton, of 1206 Nelson Place, reported that a large plate glass window was broken from the front of his home early Sunday. Police said someone apparently had thrown a marble at the window. Damage was estimated at $60.

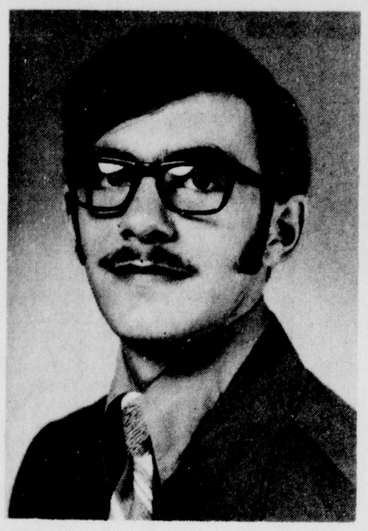

Kevin Jones, 13, Rt. 6, was treated at Memorial Hospital for a dogbite suffered at the Frank Groves residence, 346 W. Court St., Saturday afternoon. He was released after treatment.

Police seek trio following gun battle

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Police in Toledo and Michigan are continuing their hunt sor three men who shot at Lucas County Sheriff's Deputy Robert Chromik Sunday during a high speed chase.

Sheriff's officers said the 25-year-old Chromik allegedly surprised the trio during a breakin attempt.

The chase followed and one of the three men shot out the cruiser's windshield, shattering it, according to officers. Chromik was treated at a local hospital and released after running his cruiser into a ditch.

EAGLE SCOUT — Jeffrey Eugene Emrick, 17, of Columbus, received his Eagle Scout award in ceremonies at Westerville. A senior in Brookhaven High School, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Emrick, of Columbus, and grandson of Mrs. Margaret Emrick and the late Raymond Emrick, of Washington C. H. His Explorer Post 972 is sponsored by the American Motorcycle Association and the troop's activites include motorcycle travel and camping trips.

Brennan to get zoning panel post

Sewage plant matters on City Council slate

An ordinance approving temporary improvements to the wastewater treatment plant, and a resolution confirming the appointment of Jack F. Brennan to the Zoning Board of Appeals are among items on the agenda for the regular Wednesday night meeting of City Council.

The treatment plant ordinance is for the approval of plans and specifications for the construction of temporary sludge facilities. It also authorizes the taking of bids for the project.

Brennan is to fill the unexpired term of Glenn Tatman on the Zoning Board. Tatman has been employed as the city's building inspector.

Another ordinance on the agenda is for the approval of codified ordinances and to repeal conflicting ordinances.

City Manager Dan Wolford said Council previously approved the recodification project. The new legislation is for the approval of the manuscript prepared by a firm under contract with the city.

OTHER proposed new legislation authorizes the city manager to enter into a contract for preventative maintenance services on traffic signal controls and authorizes payment to Char-Mac, Inc., for repair work at the sewage treatment plant.

Council also is scheduled to take action on the second reading or ordinances establishing fees for applications submitted to the Planning Commission and to purchase parking meter tickets. The third reading of an ordinance accepting the resubdivision of several lots in the Storybrook Addition is also on the agenda.

A joint meeting of the Council and the Union Township Board of Trustees will be held at 7 p.m. Wednesday. The first quarter report on the operation of Washington Cemetery will be presented.

School systems get state funds

The Miami Trace and Washington C. H. City School Districts received a total of $100,430.72 in April under the State School Foundation program, according to State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson. The total net payments to Ohio's 616 school districts amounted to $37,937,283.13.

The city district was allotted $60,749.32, less deductions of $1,773 for school employes' retirement and $12,849.69 for state teachers' retirement for a new total of $46,126.63. The allotment to Miami Trace District was $77,577.80, minus deductions of $3,364 for school employes' retirement, $15,492.96 for state teachers' retirement and $4,396.75 as the allotment to the county board of education for a net total of $54,304.09. The allotment directly to the county board was $782.66.

Fire damages home

A short in an electrical outlet was blamed for a minor fire at the Levi Short home, 117 E. Ohio Ave. early Monday. The fire in the kitchen wall had burnt itself out when firemen arrived on the scene. Damage was set at $50.
